Vatican Rules Against Public Rosary During the Mass

LIVERPOOL (NC) — The Holy See has ruled that there should be no public recitation of the Rosary during Mass. The ruling was made by the Sacred Congregation of Rites in answer to a question raised by Archbishop John C. Heenan of Liverpool.

In Rome, an official of the Sacred Congregation of Rites said that its words to the Archbishop of Liverpool should be taken as counsel rather than a prohibition. It noted that since the liturgical movement aims at a more complete participation of the faithful in the celebration of the Divine Sacrifice, recitation of the Rosary during Mass is inadvisable.

At the same time, the Vatican body ruled that in Dialogue Masses it is permissible for the congregation to recite with the priest the Gloria, Credo, Sanctus and Agnus Dei, even if they have not recited the Confiteor and the responses to the first prayers of the Mass. Both rulings were made to clarify the September, 1958, instruction of the Congregation of Rites, which aimed at promoting more active participation of the people at Mass.

IN HIS INQUIRY, Archbishop Heenan had asked "whether the prohibition expressed in paragraph 12 of the Instruction on Sacred Music and the Sacred Liturgy of Sept. 3, 1958, is to be understood in the sense that the public recitation of the Rosary of the Blessed Virgin Mary while Mass is being celebrated is henceforth forbidden, even during the month of October."

The Congregation of Rites replied: "The Rosary is to be said at a time other than during Mass" ("Marialis corona dicenda est extra Missam"). The 1958 instruction, following the teaching of Pope Pius XII in his 1947 encyclical "Mediator Dei," states that the only "liturgical functions" are "those sacred acts which, having been instituted by Jesus Christ and the Church, are performed by legitimately appointed persons according to the liturgical books approved by the Holy See for the giving of due worship to God, the saints and the blessed."

Then it states that "other sacred acts performed either inside or outside the church, even if performed by the priest or in his presence, are called 'pious exercises'."

Thus, while the Mass is the primary "liturgical function," the Rosary is classed as a "pious exercise."

Paragraph 12 of the 1958 instruction, about which Archbishop Heenan queried, states:

"It is unlawful to mix liturgical functions and pious exercises; but if the case arises, the pious exercises must precede or follow the liturgical functions."

The reply of the Congregation of Rites was made in answer to the specific question whether "public recitation" is forbidden during Mass. It does not mention the private recitation of the Rosary by individuals during Mass.

THE RULING on the Rosary was the second of two replies given Archbishop Heenan. He first asked "whether it is lawful for the faithful at Low Mass to recite simultaneously with the priest in Latin the Gloria, Credo, the Sanctus-Benedictus and the Agnus Dei without already having previously responded to the Psalm and Confession." His reference was to the prayers at the foot of the altar, in which the server has traditionally given the responses — the 42nd psalm, the Confiteor, and part of the 84th psalm.

The 'Congregation of Rites' gave the simple affirmative reply: "It is agreed" ("acquiescat"). The rulings by the congregation, signed by its secretary, Msgr. Enrico Dante, were dated Feb. 6, 1960.

Lay Group Protests Cuban Red's Threat

HAVANA (NC) — Cuba's lay apostolate organizations have protested in a joint statement against the "insolent threat" to Catholics by the nation's communist leader.

At the same time Coadjutor Archbishop Evelio Diaz y Cia of Havana has called on Cuban Catholics to observe Holy Week with special fervor—"without ostentation, but without fear" of the Red menace.

Cuba's communist chieftain had threatened that Reds will attack as traitors to the revolutionary regime of Premier Fidel Castro those Catholics who oppose communism.

Juan Marinello, president of the Popular Socialist (communist) party, told 4,000 delegates to the national Socialist Youth Congress that a large majority of Catholic young people have gone over to Premier Castro's enemies. Communists, he declared, will use violence if they persist in their opposition to the revolution.

The joint statement of Cuban Catholic Action and other lay apostolate groups, which have a total membership of more than 20,000, said that the Marinello threat was an attempt to sow confusion and discord.

ARCHBISHOP DIAZ said in his Holy Week statement, published in the daily La Prensa: "I ask Catholics . . . to celebrate this great week fervently . . . and not to cry 'Crucify Him' a few days later when Red mobs and danger threaten."

"I ask them not to proclaim themselves Christians only in the peacefulness of prayer in the silence of the church, but instead to confess Christ publicly before mankind, without ostentation but without fear, without boastfulness but without cowardice, even when the hour strikes that demands the indispensable sacrifice that the practice of Christian life requires."

The lay apostolate statement said that the Marinello threat was "an insolent threat to the free religious expression guaranteed by the basic law of the republic."

The statement also listed other constitutional rights—free expression of one's opinions, free exercise of religion, freedom to give or receive requested religious instruction in private schools—and stated:

"These rights have been publicly and repeatedly acknowledged by the revolutionary government, and no one can obstruct them without injuring the democratic principles of the country."

"The revolution and communism are not synonymous, the statement said, and added: 'We will not tolerate anyone's meddling in our consciences, beliefs or legitimate activities, as citizens, as Marinello tries to do.'"

SOME DAYS earlier the Havana archbishopric denied reports that the Bishops of Cuba were preparing a pastoral letter condemning communism.

The denial said that the Bishops had not gathered in Havana to draft a pastoral letter, but for consecration of the new Ordinary of Pinar del Rio, Bishop Manuel Rodriguez Rozas.

In a television broadcast shortly before his consecration, the then Bishop-elect denounced both communism and a false anti-communism. He said:

"Of course a Catholic may not be a communist or hold communist ideas. The Catholic must be opposed to this ideology."

He declared that genuine anti-communism is founded upon hatred for "a doctrine that upholds historical materialism, and transgresses human dignity and the idea of God."

But he denounced a false anti-communism "such as that used by some politicians who do base themselves not on supernatural principles, but only on selfish interests."

Faith Very Much Alive in China Despite Red Efforts to Crush It

MARYKNOLL — Information filtering through the Bamboo Curtain indicates that despite all-out Red efforts to crush the Church in China, the Faith remains very much alive there.

Travelers coming from Red China report on the communists' efforts to force Chinese clergy to sever all ties with the Holy See and join the independent Church. The excerpts which follow are quoted from a recent report concerning conditions in a former Maryknoll mission territory in South China.

"HERE IS information on our valiant Chinese clergy and people: Conditions up country are definitely not improving. After having attended sessions of indoctrination at least four times in Swatow and Canton, the priests may have to go again in June of this year for further sessions. However, as far as we know, not one has given any signs of weakening and all are remaining faithful."

According to the report, Red efforts to stop the priests from celebrating Mass have failed. Most of the priests manage to say Mass secretly — early in the morning, around 4 a.m.—after which they report for work, returning home at night. Imprisonment, indoctrination and reform-by-labor are the three devices still being employed by the communists to destroy the resistance.

"IN THIS former Maryknoll area alone, five priests are in jail. Two are in reform-by-labor camps. These are Fathers Aloysius Au and Peter Liao. The former is in Tsinghai (near Tibet); the latter, not far from Kungong in northern Kwangtung."

"At first Father Liao had to work from dawn till dark digging coal, but when his health failed, due to beri beri, he was allowed to work in the vegetable fields. We managed to get a little food to him and now his health has improved somewhat. There are 10,000 prisoners in this work camp, and a great many are ill; and many will die."

No word has been received on the whereabouts of two other Chinese priests, Fathers Longinus Chai and Luke Lu, reportedly in jail. Of those priests who are free (names omitted to protect them and their families) one works in an iron factory; another takes care of cows and goats; a third has charge of chickens; a fourth carries coal, the rest work as ordinary farmers.

"MANY PUBLIC buildings are going up all over and much roadwork is being done. The last-erected Maryknoll church has been pulled down and the materials carted to another village for a new library building. All other churches are either being used as granaries or for public meetings."

"Not one is open for religious services, and this is also true of Shanghai; in Peking a few are open—mainly to impress visitors with the fiction of religious freedom."

The overall lot of the man in the street in China has not improved, according to the report, despite Red claims of industrial and economic expansion.

"The bus service in China has improved but the only people using buses now are public officials and students."

"The average 'John Q. Public' must work seven days a week. For his work he earns, at the present time only enough to buy two ounces of rice per meal, with vegetables — which must be cooked in water, as there is no oil for frying. There is no meat."

"All meat, grains and oils go

Don't Fear Large Families, Says Pope

ROME — "Don't be afraid of the number of your sons and daughters," said Pope John at a Palm Sunday Mass in the Basilica of St. Paul-Outside-the-Walls.

"On the contrary, ask Divine Providence for them so that you can rear and educate them to their own benefit and to the glory of your fatherland here on earth and of that one in heaven."

The Holy Father had gone to the Basilica for the beginning of Holy Week. It was there, a little more than a year ago, that he surprised the world by announcing the coming ecumenical council.

During the Mass, celebrated by Cardinal Giobbe, after three monks had chanted the text of St. Matthew's account of the Passion of Christ, Pope John, speaking in Italian, also dwelt on the plight of the persecuted Church under communism, saying:

"THE CONCERN for this section of the flock of Christ, very dear to our spirit because it is closer to the Lord in its sufferings, constitutes a sharp thorn in our heart, and you will not find it strange that we should repeatedly deplore the moral and physical oppression inflicted on inhabitants of regions accustomed to exercising their basic and human liberty and enjoying the fruits of good works, justice and peace."

The Pope made special reference to Bulgaria and the Balkans, where he spent "10 happy years — the most vigorous of our humble life — in the service of truth, justice and peace."

"It is natural that we should be particularly sensitive to whatever afflicts those sons of the noble Bulgarian nation whose gifts of character and of human and Christian kindness we had occasion to admire."

The Pope concluded by saying that it is a "true and great apostolate of peace" when one knows how to have in his "daily life the innocence of children, singing hosanna to Christ with strong faith, with the practice of the teaching of the Gospels and with love for the Cross, exercising patience and sacrifice with suffering brothers wherever they might be."

The ceremonies at St. Paul's-Outside-the-Walls lasted more than three hours, so the Pope was late for the usual Sunday blessing at noon from his window above St. Peter's Square. He appeared shortly after 1 p.m. and gave his blessing to a crowd of about 7,000 people.

Earlier in the week, Pope John had declared that the recent creation of three Afro-Asian Cardinals "proclaims that Christ is the brother of all people." Receiving Cardinal Doi of Tokyo and 70 other Japanese, he drew a contrast between present racial conflicts and the Church's constant defense of the doctrine of human brotherhood.

"Here is a Cardinal from Tanganyika," he said. "Here is one from the Philippines and one from Japan. Their nomination, without great words and without diplomatic subtleties, proclaims that Christ is the brother of all people, that His kingdom is without boundaries or limits of any kind."

"There are, unfortunately, regions of the world where Christians have to shed tears and to experience very bitter days and nights. We are with them in prayer and in suffering. And we know that their anxiety will obtain salvation and glory for other brothers scattered throughout the world."

Pointing to Japanese seminarians at the audience, Pope John called them "the sign of a great victory over evil, over the prince of this world, who is always busy denying God, proclaiming that the spiritual does not exist, reducing everything to basic matter, debasing men gifted with an immortal soul to the level of the brute."

"We instead affirm that God exists, guides and governs the universe, and is the source of eternal life."

IN AN AUDIENCE of 30,000 workers from Naples, the Pope told them they can find "only in the observance of the Commandments the secret of peace and of peace of mind." He took the occasion of the pilgrimage to deliver a short sermon on man's relation to the Cross.

"Only he who takes it (the Cross) on his shoulders to follow the Lord," he said, "mortifying the laws of the senses so they obey those of the spirit, enjoys peace within himself, the true peace of soul which is reflected in the order of one's own work, in the honor of the family and also in material prosperity of life."

The Pope stated that today it seems as if this reality is forgotten by some people, who are engrossed in displays, entertainments and frivolities. He urged the crowd not to "be deceived, blinded or misled," because salvation is in Jesus, in the sacrifice of the Cross, in the Ten Commandments.

The Pope said that Christian workers "feel all the joy of belonging to the Church, of not being alone and almost torn away from the Catholic family, but united in the sweet bonds of the communion of saints with their brothers of the whole world."

IN OTHER ACTIONS, Pope John:

• Reminded a general audience that Easter must mean more to every good Christian than an occasion for the traditional Easter parade; that Catholics must prepare spiritually for Easter because "we are on earth with a precise responsibility to earn the Kingdom of God and not to play," . . . the "social disorders, misunderstandings and bloodshed in the world today" spring from rebellion against divine law.

• Celebrated a special Mass in his private chapel for success of the World Refugee Year. Vatican Radio said the Mass was offered "to implore God's blessing on all charitable undertakings" being promoted in connection with the year.

• Received Tsoungbara Fujita, a Japanese painter who became a Catholic last October at the age of 73; President Philibert Tsiranana of the Malagasy Republic; Raimondo Manzini, new editor of L'Osservatore Romano, and Count Giuseppe Dalla Torre, editor-emeritus; Bishop John J. Wright of Pittsburgh; and Dr. Nureddin Vergin, first Ambassador from Turkey to the Holy See.

At the end of the week, the Holy Father suspended his regular conferences with Cardinals of the Church's administrative headquarters until the Tuesday after Easter. It was reported that he wants to allow himself full time to take part in the liturgical ceremonies of Holy Week and Easter.

Alcoholism Institute To Be Held Apr. 19

NEW YORK — Problems concerning alcoholism and excessive drinking among Catholic laymen and methods for dealing with such situations by parish priests will be discussed in the Second Annual Pastoral Institute on Alcohol Problems, to be conducted at Cathedral High School Auditorium, 560 Lexington Ave. here, Apr. 19.

Hosted by Cardinal Spellman, the Institute will include nationally recognized authorities on alcohol problems as speakers. Rev. Joseph T. O'Connor, assistant pastor of St. John the Baptist Church, Yonkers, is chairman.

"The Clergy's Role in Alcohol Problems" will be discussed by Rev. John C. Ford, S.J., professor of moral theology, Catholic University of America, at the opening session at 11 a.m. Also scheduled for the first meeting will be Mrs. Marty Mann, New York City, executive director of the National Council on Alcoholism.

The second session, at 2 p.m., will hear Rev. Bernard J. Lenarz, of Mayhew Lake, Minn., speak on "Practical Points on Counseling the Alcoholic."

Father O'Connor will moderate a 3 p.m. panel discussion closing the Institute. Panelists will be Father Ford, Father Lenarz, and Mrs. Mann.

Rev. Martin R. Wenzel, of Brooklyn, and Rev. Frederick Lawrence, M.S.S.T., of Stirling, N.J., will serve as chairmen for the afternoon meetings.

THE CONFERENCE will conduct additional meetings Apr. 20-21 at the Midtown House, 38th St. and Madison Ave., featuring participation by Archbishop Boland of Newark, Bishop McNulty of Paterson, Bishop Leo A. Purcell of Fort Wayne, and Auxiliary Bishop John J. Maguire of New York.

Sponsored by the National Clergy Conference on Alcoholism, the first pastoral institute was conducted last year at the University of Notre Dame.

Way to Unify 18 Million Catholics Shown NCCM-NCCW Moderators

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill. (NC)—A blueprint for coordinated planning and action by the National Councils of Catholic Men and Women was sketched in this Chicago suburb.

The goal long has been sought—a joint coordinating committee of the National Council of Catholic Men, with 8 million members in its affiliated organizations, and of the National Council of Catholic Women, with more than 10 million.

Envisioned is use of the joint council in many areas where co-operative planning and action would strengthen the lay apostolate.

The plan, perhaps, is years from completion. It must be discussed thoroughly and approved by the full memberships of the organizations involved as the first major step. It also must be given the green light by the administrative board of the National Catholic Welfare Conference and by the Bishops of U.S.

But the blueprint was sketched before 128 NCCM and NCCW priest-moderators, who met for three days here in the first such joint meeting in the history of both councils.

The function of the joint council would be to coordinate existing Catholic Action programs, develop new areas of joint activities and place the combined resources of both councils at the services of the Church in the "restoration of all things in Christ," according to Martin H. Work and Margaret Mealey, executives of both councils.

It could also serve as the point of affiliation and the program services resource to mixed organizations of men and women in such apostolic areas as home and school and family life, they added.

THE NEED for closer knit cooperation between NCCM and NCCW was emphasized by Cardinal Meyer of Chicago and Bishop Allen J. Babcock of Grand Rapids, episcopal chairman, NCWC Department of Lay Organizations.

Cardinal Meyer declared that "this is the age of the lay apostolate." Because of rampant secularism and materialism, "we are now in the most difficult period of modern history." He said the situation presents a challenge to Catholic laity and underscores the importance of priest-moderators in such organizations as NCCM and NCCW.

The Cardinal urged the priest-moderators to capitalize fully on "the Eucharistic crusade" in view of the relaxed regulation for distribution of Communion after noon at services other than Mass.

BISHOP BABCOCK declared that the laity do not merely belong to the Church—they are the Church. He said that if the Church had been bolstered years ago with a more enlightened and a more articulate laity, perhaps the popular misconception of the policy of separation of Church and state would not exist today.

A wealth of good could come from closer cooperation by NCCM and NCCW in the home and school area and also in the Fraternity of Christian Doctrine, he declared.

Such cooperation with CCD could take up some of the slack created by shortages of teaching Sisters and Brothers in the presently overcrowded Catholic school system, he asserted.

Bishop Babcock predicted: "We are never again going to have the abundance of teaching Sisters and Brothers in the (Continued on Page 2) schools which we knew 15, 20 and 25 years ago. We must remember that the number of Catholics are increasing far greater than the number of religious vocations."

He urged NCCM and NCCW affiliates down to the parish levels to explore the advisability of cooperating in CCD work and of lending a hand with the acute teaching situation.

Bishop Babcock said that such undertakings are highly important because today too many leaders and politicians have been shown to be men who may attend church on Sunday and "leave their religion in the church until they return the following Sunday."

THE CENTRAL theme of the three-day meeting of priest-moderators was presented by Msgr. Paul F. Tanner, NCCW general secretary, at the opening session. Msgr. Tanner spelled out the all-important role and function of the priest-moderator in the lay apostolate. He touched upon the fine lines of distinction between Catholic Action and the lay apostolate.

"When the lay apostolate becomes Catholic Action the assistance of the clergy is necessary. Without such assistance Catholic Action will soon wither and disappear," he declared.

"The priest-moderator is the natural link between the hierarchy and the laity, the guardian of the orthodoxy of Catholic Action."

He emphasized that the moderator "is not the director of his council—he has no direct authority to dispose of issues."

He said that the moderator "must see that the council acts in conformity with Catholic principles, the laws of morality, the teachings of the Church and any specific directions of the Bishops—he has the right and duty of suspending deliberations should they clash with any of these, a right obviously to be used with great discretion." He added that the moderator "is the moral consultant of the council."

The 126 priest-moderators split up into workshop groups and discussed the role of priest-moderators in such areas as spiritual formation, training of leaders, organizational techniques, and programming.

The workshop sessions were followed by an address on the developing theology of the lay apostolate by Auxiliary Bishop Leonard P. Cowley of St. Paul.

"Sacred Scripture is replete with indications and descriptions of the concept that it is God's will to extend some of the duties of Christ's priesthood to the laity," Bishop Cowley said. "Along these lines it would seem some of the character of that priesthood is also extended to the laity. The 'if' seems settled. We are now invited to discuss the 'when, how and how much'."

The Bishop said that one of the "refinements of our modern society" is the "growing field of social challenges that are being met (and sometimes manufactured) by civic and cultural organizations." He said that while it is desirable for Catholics to participate in movements like the Red Cross, community chests, campaigns against diseases and similar movements, such work, generally speaking, cannot be construed with the lay apostolate.

The Bishop cautioned the priest-moderators to remember the "fundamental definition of Catholic Action. The definition, as we know, is 'The participation of the laity in the activity of the hierarchy'."

THE SKETCHING of the blueprint for the envisioned joint NCCM-NCCW agency was carried out by Martin Work, NCCM executive director, and Margaret Mealey, NCCW executive secretary.

Other participants included

Auxiliary Bishop Joseph H. Hodges of Richmond, Va.; John Cornelius Hayes of Chicago, NCCM president; Mrs. Mark A. Theissen of Covington, Ky., NCCW president; and Russell Barta, executive director of the Adult Education Centers of the Archdiocese of Chicago.

South Africans Pray For Race Crisis End

CAPETOWN (NC) — South Africans flocked to their churches on Palm Sunday to pray for an end to the racial crisis that has taken scores of lives in this country in recent weeks.

Only a day before the nation's Prime Minister, Hendrik Verwoerd, had been shot in an assassination attempt.

Archbishop Owen McCann of Capetown immediately sent a telegram to Dr. Verwoerd expressing deep shock at the attempt on the Premier's life. He said prayers were being offered for him.

Following the assassination attempt, the press reported that the assassin, David Pratt, had "spent much time at a mission station near his farm" during the week before he shot the Premier.

In response, Father R. Ormond, director of the boys' town at Magaliesberg, said he knew Mr. Pratt, but that he was not a Catholic. He said Mr. Pratt had recently spent two nights at the Catholic-operated boys' town.

Mr. Pratt had expressed great interest in the boys' town work, the priest said, and "for this reason came to see me on several occasions during the last two weeks."

"I gained the impression he was emotionally upset and seemed to be looking for something to restore his self confidence, which it appeared to me he had lost. At no time was politics discussed between us."

THE CHURCHES were packed in answer to a joint call by the country's religious leaders to observe Palm Sunday as a national day of prayer and penance.

Among those joining in the appeal was Archbishop Owen McCann of Capetown. Leaders of the Dutch Reformed Church also signed the appeal. Theirs the church to which most Afrikaners belong. The Afrikaners are the descendants of the Dutch colonizers of South Africa who provide the main support of the ruling Nationalist party's policy of "apartheid" or strict racial segregation.

The recent crisis over "apartheid," repeatedly condemned by the nation's Catholic Bishops and

'Veronica's Veil' Honors 3 For 25 Years Service

UNION CITY — Three members of the cast of "Veronica's Veil," Lenten play, will be honored for completion of 25 years of service to the production.

They are Thomas Monahan, actor; Walter McKenna, stage hand and property man, and Mrs. Myra Fiedler, sales clerk.

They will be presented with silver rosaries at the annual Veronica's Veil banquet, Apr. 19, at the Union Club, Hoboken.

Veronica's Veil closed its 1960 season this week with a capacity house of 1,058 persons witnessing the final performance.

Rev. Hubert Arliss C.P., producer, said, "It was one of the most successful seasons in our 46-year history. I believe people are attracted to it because it teaches a lesson — that suffering can have value and a purpose."

Grade, High School Enrollment Over 5 Million for First Time

WASHINGTON (NC) — The combined total enrollment in U. S. Catholic grade and high schools passed the five million mark for the first time this school year; and Catholic grade schools alone set another record.

Elementary schools have had a 100% increase in enrollment since the end of World War II, according to figures released by the Department of Education, National Catholic Welfare Conference here.

Catholic grade and high school enrollment last October totaled 5,090,012 — an increase of 191,319, or 3.9% over the last academic year's combined total of 4,898,693.

This year's combined figure represents a jump of 814,170, or 19%, since the 1956 total of 4,275,842, the last biennial NCWC survey. Surveys will now be made annually.

Church-sponsored grade schools this year enrolled 4,262,100 pupils and Catholic high schools, 827,912, the report said.

Of the 191,319 increase since last year in total grade and high school enrollment, 160,148 was in the elementary schools and 31,171 in the secondary schools, NCWC figures indicated.

THE ENROLLMENT statistics were released by the NCWC department in connection with the convention of the National Catholic Educational Association, organization of Catholic teachers and administrators, in Chicago Apr. 19-22.

The NCWC unit noted the total of 4.2 million children in Catholic elementary schools tops the figure of 4,173,588 that was needed to double the enrollment of 1945, the year unofficially recognized as the beginning of the enrollment boom.

High schools must attain an enrollment of 841,414 to double their enrollment since the same year. They now stand at 827,912.

The NCWC department said the children in Catholic grade schools are taught in 10,278 schools by 102,622 teachers. Of the teaching staff, 73,871 are Sisters, 24,204 are lay women, 1,246 are lay men, 2,712 are priests and 389 of them are religious Brothers.

Catholic high schools total 2,401 and are staffed by 40,869 teachers.

As in the grade schools, Sisters lead in numbers of high school teachers, totaling 20,684. There are 6,775 priests, 5,342 lay men, 4,123 lay women, 3,544 Brothers and 401 scholastics.

The NCWC department's report did not include statistics for colleges. These will be released later and will be included in the department's "Summary of Catholic Education," to be available by May 15.

The NCWC also noted that for the first time, its statistics for the U. S. included Alaska and Hawaii.

THE NATIONAL Catholic Educational Association's convention opens Apr. 19 with a Pontifical Mass celebrated in the International Amphitheater arena by the convention's host, Cardinal Meyer of Chicago.

The sermon at the Mass is to be delivered by Archbishop William E. Cousins of Milwaukee, NCEA president-general.

Rev. Walter J. Ong, S. J., of St. Louis University, will deliver the keynote address at a session following the Mass. The convention theme is: "Emphasis on Excellence."

After Father Ong's address, the seven departments of the association hold sessions, as do numerous Catholic educational groups which meet in conjunction with the NCEA.

These include the Catholic Business Education Association which will be addressed on Apr. 19 by John Quincy Adams of Montclair, president of the Manhattan Refrigerating Co. and Union Terminal Cold Storage Co., New York.

Preserve Houses of 'Fatima Children'

FATIMA (NC) — The houses which are the birthplaces of the three children to whom the Virgin Mary appeared here in 1917 have been made public monuments.

The houses are at nearby Aljustrel — one where Lucy dos Santos was born, and the other where her cousins Francisco and Jacinta Marto were born. They have now been classified as of "public interest" and thus cannot be altered or demolished.

Cut European Refugee Quota

WASHINGTON (NC) — The House has passed a bill that would allow only 5,000 refugees from Europe to enter this country within the next 27 months.

The House action was taken a few days after an appeal to a House subcommittee to approve a more liberal bill for refugees. The appeal was made by Msgr. Edward E. Swannstrom as chairman of the American Council of Voluntary Agencies for Foreign Service, Inc.

Msgr. Swannstrom, director of Catholic Relief Services - NCWC, had suggested that all refugees should be accorded permanent visas rather than be admitted as parolees.

However, under terms of the House measure (H.R. Res. 397), the U. S. could admit as parolees 25% of the number of refugees, mostly from Iron Curtain countries, who still remain in displaced persons camps in Europe. They would attain residence status after two years and could apply for citizenship five years later.

Msgr. Swannstrom had urged broadening of the bill to include thousands of Italian nationals who were forced to leave their homes in Tunisia because of government pressure there.

CWV Protests Sinatra's Hiring of Writer Maltz

BAYONNE — Frank Sinatra drew the fire of the New Jersey Catholic War Veterans last week for his hiring of Albert Maltz to write the screen play for "The Execution of Private Slovik."

Maltz, a member of the "Hollywood 10" screen writers, refused to testify before the House Un-American Activities Committee as to his communist affiliations.

In a meeting held in Bayonne, Apr. 6, the CWV executive board formally adopted a resolution condemning Sinatra's action. The resolution stated that Sinatra is in open defiance of the public pledge of the reputable movie companies not to hire screen writers who are of questionable loyalty.

Cresenzi W. Castaldo, state CWV commander, declared that "the Department of New Jersey, through its National Department, shall vigorously oppose the hiring of . . . individuals who would be given the opportunity of unjustly maligning the actions of the United States of America and the United States Army."

"The Catholic War Veterans considers the actions of Frank Sinatra a direct affront to every American and will boycott, if necessary, the showing of the contemplated picture."

(This week it was announced that Sinatra had decided not to use Maltz to write the screen play, as he bowed to public pressure in the matter.)

The paper said the nun, Sister Pia, born Helena Linetova, had been employed as a teacher at a children's home at Zampach.

Holy Week Ceremonies in the Holy Land

JERUSALEM (NC)—The Holy Land is acting out the ceremonies of Holy Week in the very spots that tradition ascribes to the events these ceremonies commemorate.

Latin Rite Patriarch Alberto Gori of Jerusalem, vested in the black of mourning, was to memorialize the death of Christ in a Good Friday liturgical service in the Basilica of the Holy Sepulcher. Old Christian tradition holds that Christ was executed there or nearby.

At this and at all Holy Week ceremonies in the basilica built over the tomb of Christ, Patriarch Gori followed the old liturgy that was replaced in 1956 wherever the Roman Rite is celebrated. Dissident Christian churches which share the basilica with the Catholics have been unwilling to alter their schedules to allow the new Catholic liturgy.

After the solemn liturgical services Christians gather at the Antonia Fortress where Pilate condemned Christ to death. Led by the Custos of the Holy Land, Rev. Alfredo Polidori, O.F.M., they follow Christ's journey to Calvary in the Stations of the Cross.

Patriarch Gori opened Holy Week ceremonies on Palm Sunday with the blessing of the palms and procession in the Basilica of the Holy Sepulchre. The faithful joined the procession. Three times the worshippers circled the shrine surrounding the tomb where Christ was buried and where He rose from the dead. Then Patriarch Gori celebrated Mass.

Later in the day Patriarch Gori led a three-hour procession along the traditional path of Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem. Pilgrims from abroad walked beside local Boy Scouts, parishioners from throughout Jordan, and Eastern Rite religious in the march from Bethpage, a little village near Bethany on the eastern slopes of Mount Olivet, to the Holy City.

Chanting "Hosanna," they passed the shrines of Dominus Flevit (the Lord Wept) and Gethsemane, traversed the valley of Cedron and entered through the Gate of St. Stephen.

On Holy Thursday morning, Patriarch Gori celebrated Pontifical Mass before the little shrine in the Basilica of the Holy Sepulcher known as the Edicule, which surrounds the site of Christ's tomb. He blessed Holy Oils for the liturgical year. Then the Blessed Sacrament was placed in a repository for use in the Good Friday's solemn liturgy. Throughout the night pilgrims kept watch at the foot of the repository.

That evening, a Mass of the Lord's Supper was to be celebrated at the Cenacle, the room which tradition holds was the site of the Last Supper. The Cenacle is the only major Holy Week site that lies in the Israeli sector of Jerusalem. The Via Dolorosa, Calvary and the Basilica of the Holy Sepulcher are all in that part of Jerusalem held by Jordan.

The evening Mass of the Lord's Supper follows a procession led by the Benedictines of Dormition Abbey, adjacent to the Cenacle and reputed to be the place where the Mother of Christ died. The procession begins at the main chapel in the Cenacle and finishes at the crypt beneath the main church.

THE RITE most characteristic of the evening is the washing of the feet. Twelve poor persons from Jerusalem are brought to the room below the Cenacle and their feet are washed in commemoration of the washing of the Apostles' feet by Christ during the Last Supper.

On the evening of Good Friday the Custodian of the Holy Land, Father Polidori, presides at services in the Basilica of the Holy Sepulcher commemorating the burial of Christ. Sermons will be preached in several languages.

On Eastern morning Patriarch Gori was to celebrate Pontifical Mass in the Basilica in the presence of the consular corps and of Governor Hassan Kadeb of Jordanian Jerusalem. It was expected that the basilica would be especially crowded because of this year's concurrence of Easter celebrations by Western and Eastern churches.

The fact that Easter is celebrated on the same day this year by Eastern and Western churches brought an unusually high number of pilgrims to the Holy Land. An estimated 10,000 pilgrims were in Jerusalem for Eastertide services.

More than a third came from Europe and America, and the rest from Cyprus, Egypt, Greece, Lebanon and Syria.

Jordan's government-run radio service arranged to broadcast some of the services, including the Good Friday evening service at the Basilica of the Holy Sepulcher and the Easter Pontifical Mass in the same basilica.

Latin American Call Discussed

ROME — Representatives of religious communities of men and women in Rome held separate meetings here to discuss methods of implementing Pope John's appeal for a greater missionary effort throughout Latin America.

Cardinal Mimmi, president of the Latin American Pontifical Mission, presided at the meeting.

The problems which face the Church in Latin America were outlined by officials of the Roman Curia.

The top threats to Catholicism were listed as Protestantism, communism and spiritism. These movements, delegates to the meetings were told, flourish because of the lack of religious instruction and the shortage of priests.

Among topics discussed by the missionaries were preparation of missionary professors, education of the poor, adult education, aid to students in Latin America and abroad, catechetical methods, and increased vocational programs.

A CLEAN SWEEP: Parochial school children of downtown Jersey City gave a dramatic demonstration Apr. 11 of the best way to start rehabilitation of a slipping area. They just grabbed brooms and swabbed the streets. The area won't slip any more if the kids' elders note the lesson. The project was sponsored by the Priests' Committee for Downtown Jersey City. Here, before starting out, the children receive some encouragement from Msgr. LeRoy E. McWilliams, right, chairman of the Priests' Committee, and Rev. Harold V. Fitzpatrick, pastor, St. Bridget's. In the center is Elaine Howe, a St. Bridget's fourth grader, who first suggested "Operation Clean Sweep" to Rev. James W. O'Neill, secretary of the Priests' Committee. Ready to do their share are Robert Jeffers, Frank Diffley and Joseph Bhuniak, all of St. Bridget's. In the meantime this same kind of scene was being repeated in nine other downtown Jersey City parishes, organized by the Priests' Committee for Downtown Jersey City.

Birth Control Ruling Asked

WASHINGTON (NC) — The U. S. Supreme Court has been asked to rule on the constitutionality of Connecticut's 80-year-old legislation against artificial birth control. Two married couples, using fictitious names, and Dr. C. Lee Buxton, chairman of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the Yale University Medical School, New Haven, asked the high court for a review.

IN DECEMBER, 1959, the five-member Connecticut State Supreme Court of Errors, the state's highest tribunal, unanimously upheld the constitutionality of the laws which forbid the use of contraceptives and prohibit any person, including physicians, from counseling on their use.

One married couple claims medical records show that pregnancy would endanger the health of the wife. The other couple says past experience shows the wife cannot give birth to normal children.

Africa Cardinal In Hospital for Rest, Checkup

ROME (NC) — Cardinal Rugambwa, the Church's first African Negro Cardinal, has entered Rome's Salvatore Mundi hospital for a rest and a medical check-up.

The Bishop of Rutabo, Tanganyika, had come to Rome for the consistories at which he was raised to the College of Cardinals.

Contrary to reports that he had suffered a heart attack, it was announced that an old malarial condition, combined with the physical and emotional strain of the past several weeks, had weakened the 47-year-old Cardinal's condition.

Assurance was given that Cardinal Rugambwa is strong and that there was no reason for concern.

A CHURCH HALF BUILT!

ON THE ROAD TO ALEPPO, LEBANON, you can see a church in the village of K'A that is standing without a roof. The poor people of the village have donated all they have financially to buy the necessary materials for the church—and have started the construction with their own hands. Now they are in dire need of $4,000 to finish this house of the Lord. Any little gift for this Chapel will do wonders — YOUR MITY MITE will bring consolation to these devoted but poor Catholics. A memorial will be placed in the church with the names of all the benefactors that help us. We are praying that we can help these people see their dream come true—a finished Church for the Lord they love so intensely.

THOMAS and JACOB have seen the glory of the Risen Christ and they wish to serve Him as priests in India. Each boy has worked hard in school and each is ready to enter the major seminary—BUT—each now needs a benefactor who will pay the necessary expenses of $100 a year during the six year course. Would you like to "have a priest in the family?"

SISTER CLARA and SISTER LORETE are dedicating their lives for the salvation of souls in Iraq but they need benefactors to help them through their two years of study at the Dominican Novitiate. Each must find a sponsor who will pay the $150 a year for the expenses of the two year period of training. Are you "the answer to a nun's prayer?"

MASS OFFERINGS ARE THE MATERIAL FOUNDATION ON THE LIFE AND WORK OF OUR MISSIONARY PRIESTS... MASS OFFERINGS ARE THE SPIRITUAL FOUNDATION OF YOUR LIFE... REMEMBER THEM TODAY.

Take an innocent child, add the proper training, add $10 and you have a radiant refugee child on the day of FIRST HOLY COMMUNION. Your gift of $10 will do two things—provide a new outfit for the "great day"—and bring sweet joy to the heart of a refugee child in the Holy Land.

MOTHER'S DAY—A DAY TO REMEMBER!
This year make it a significant spiritual gift which will last forever. Our GIFT CARD will include PRESSED FLOWERS FROM THE HOLY LAND and will tell that you arranged for a missionary to offer Mass (or Masses) for her—or that you enrolled her (annual membership $1, perpetual $20) in our Association. Members share in 15,000 Masses and many indulgences each year. Maybe you would like to donate a sacred article to a Near East Mission chapel in her name.

Rebuttal to Remarks At Youth Conference

Editor:
The Apr. 7 edition of The Advocate carries a report on the 1960 White House Conference on Children and Youth. In part it was headed "Youth Conference Quotes." There were 14 of these, two by a Dr. Milton J. E. Senn, director of the Child Study Center at Yale University.
Since it is possible that your readers may think that your quoting him is an endorsement, it would be well to know the following:
Dr. Senn spoke to Forum IX in which I was a participant. The general topic was, "Religious, Spiritual and Secular Beliefs and Personal Codes of Conduct which Affect the Development of the Young." This was the topic on which Dr. Senn was supposed to speak.

The Evening Star of Washington headed the report on his speech, "Organized religion is corrupting the moral standards of American youth, the White House Conference on Children and Youth has been told."
The reason for this can be seen in other quotes from Dr. Senn's diatribe. At one point he asked, "Are not theologians who are against divorce contributing to immorality when they tell parishioners that engaging in extramarital sex relations is less sinful and more forgivable than divorce?"

Would these theologians be other than Catholic? This distinction is certainly Catholic but not in the meaning in which Dr. Senn has proposed it.

Another ally by Dr. Senn was, "Does the Church foster fear, dealing, or promote dictation, when clergymen every two years in the State of Connecticut bring pressure on the legislature not to repeal a law which prevents doctors from prescribing contraceptives to those citizens who are free theologically to plan their families?" Would these clergymen be Catholic priests?

Dr. Senn deplored the use of such "slogans" as "Put Christ back into Christmas," and "Families that pray together will stay together." He said they gave "a feeling of complacency and the belief that we are acting religiously by making a show of piety."

The Doctor is apparently completely oblivious of the fundamental meanings expressed in these sayings.

Another of Dr. Senn's bon mots was, "Organized religion resorts to gambling such as in bingo to finance the work of the Church." Dr. Senn referred to Mayor Wagner of New York as one with a strong religious affiliation, who not compensate for his effort. The Brooklyn Tablet makes this editorial comment on Dr. Senn, after briefly reviewing what he said: "Many present were indignant at this manifestation of bias but it would be more practical to establish how one so filled with hate got on the program. Yale University with such a man directing a Child Study Center certainly makes one wonder if education and culture have been by-passed."

This letter affords the opportunity of rebutting to some extent Dr. Senn's remarks. This was not possible at the Forum in which he spoke.

Literature Student Lauds Play of Week

Editor:
As a literature major at Seton Hall University last term, my first assignment was to read "Medea." In connection with this assignment, I tuned in The Play of the Week for Judith Anderson's portrayal of "Medea." I was thrilled with her performance. The next day the show was discussed in class and the professor urged everyone to see it.

Subsequently, I watched the other shows on The Play of the Week and found them a marvelous adjunct to my literature courses. I was one of the 50,000 persons who wrote the station asking that the mature programs be continued.

Truthfully, I found more stories in my textbooks that might be termed "salacious" than anything I saw on The Play of the Week. Such classics as "The Canterbury Tales," "The Nibelungenlied," "Tristan and Isolde" or "Oedipus Rex," for example, deal with adultery and bawdiness, but these tales are studied in our Catholic colleges for their literary worth.

Would that some of your readers could be as broadminded about The Play of the Week as is Seton Hall's literature department. Are not TV viewers mature enough yet to accept literary greatness?

Constance Gatchell, Upper Montclair.

Other Letters on 'Play of Week'

Editor:
It is regrettable that Mr. Pierce of Morristown seems to be fighting the battle of "The Play of the Week" all by himself. I have lately seen a comment on television that might bolster his stand.

It is from The Tablet of London, a distinguished weekly review. It concerns another topic, but I think applies equally well to "The Play of the Week." The London critic writes:
"I do not think that in the evening hours — say from eight o'clock onwards — television should be made safe for children. Whether they watch or not is the parents' responsibility. We must after all expect television to deal with controversial subjects."

Another comment is from a letter to the Catholic Transcript of Hartford, which seems to have had a little discussion on this. Because I agree with this stand, I would like to quote a few words:
"Obviously 'The Play of the Week' is not for children or children over 21. It is for the normal, intelligent adult... If an aesthetic treatment of sex is necessary for the integrity of the play, it should be in the play. However, adults have various ranges of sensitivity. In that case, God has equipped us with fingers. We are still allowed to get out of our chairs and change the channel."
Robert F. Doviak, Bloomfield.

Editor:
"Naive" may be the kindest word for Mr. Pierce, when he presumes that his published comments should be absolutely the last word on "The Play of the Week" controversy. And after reading his identifying summations of the dramas, charity compels me to remind him that a little learning is a dangerous thing.

No single play in the series — taken by itself — is cause for alarm. But the steady week after week diet of these plays provides the drip - drip - drip treatment, that suggests to the consistent observer a questioning attitude on the over-all choice of dramatic fare.

In fact, curiosity directs one to ponder, whether or no, an unhealthy pattern exists. For most of the 23 weeks we have been exposed to sympathetic treatments of disintegrating ethics, anti-clericalism, adultery, pacifism, apostasy, moral indifference, superstition, modernism and agnosticism. In short, the repertoire of plays repudiates the traditional morality of the West.

Quite obviously, no balance of fare has been attempted thus far. Certain questions present themselves: "Why no Shakespeare?" "If Shaw is represented, why not with his masterpiece, 'St. Joan'?" "Since the modern French theater is included, why must it be represented with Sartre and Anouilh, rather than with Mauriac and Claudel?" "Must we regard the bitter, narrow O'Casey as the only spokesman of the contemporary Irish theater?"

Further, any observer must conclude that it is probably in keeping with "adult, mature productions of outstanding contemporary drama" to be mute on such provocative modern phenomena as Marxism, progressivism, Zionism, surrealism, psychoanalysis, and materialism. There is not a single anti-communist play among those that have been shown; nor is one scheduled.

James J. Merriman, Bayonne.

Editor:
The Teenagers' Decency Campaign stands firmly behind its criticism of "Play of the Week" and will continue to do so in spite of the criticisms it will encounter. We would like to inform Gerald Pierce that his list is very inadequate in that he has completely ignored the objectionable features which most of these plays contain and which we are complaining about.

We are not at all impressed by quotations by big names in defense of plays, movies, etc., nor are we impressed by the fact that a play is considered "classic," "artistic," or "mature." The only time we are impressed by names is when those people stand up for decency, because it is a sense of decency which helps us to determine the right way of life!

A spade is a spade. If a play contains dirt, then we call it dirt and don't try to hide it under the dignified terms we have mentioned above.

We are saddened that Gerald Pierce and many others have become conditioned to frankness in certain matters which are better left alone. He has been easily swayed by the bad example of adult delinquents and it is because of this adult delinquency that the Teenagers' Decency Campaign was formed.

The campaign will fearlessly continue to uphold the highest ideals of Christian modesty and decency. We know that we are working for God! Teenagers' Decency Campaign, Susan Casey, President Stamford, Conn.

God Love You

The Church Is Everything

By Bishop Fulton J. Sheen

If there is anything that shows the importance of attending important meetings, it is the fact that Thomas, who missed the first meeting of the Risen Christ with His disciples, is the one who became the doubter. It was not until a week later that he met the Lord. Before doing so, he laid down the arrogant conditions upon which he would believe, namely, that he put his finger into the Hand and his hand into the Side of the Divine Master.

Thomas was called a doubter, but he was more than that; he was a disbeliever, a skeptic. The conditions for believing that he imposed were a token of his determination to be obstinate.

WHEN THE Lord appeared, he quoted Thomas's own words. How embarrassed and ashamed he must have been. Our Lord told him it was a question of obedience; it was a question of the disposition of his soul. The sun was in the heavens; it was the eyes that were diseased. Thomas probably never touched the Scars. He just cried out, "My Lord and My God."

Our Lord then said, "Blessed are they who have not seen and yet, have believed." The lesson is: Thomas should have believed the testimony of the other Apostles; they are the Church. We do not believe in the Resurrection because the Bible says so; we believe in it because we have witnesses that go back to Christ, namely, the Apostles. The Bible came out of the Church; that is why we believe it is inspired. The Church came out of Christ; that is why we believe what it tells us about the Bible.

The Church is everything. It saw Christ crucified; it saw Him raised from the dead; it was present on Pentecost. In extend-

There's 'Other-ness' in Marriage Too, Battling Pair Must Learn

By Rev. John L. Thomas, S.J.

Assistant Professor of Sociology, St. Louis University

How do you handle a wife who's always looking for an argument? Since she takes everything I say as a challenge, I keep quiet until things get too bad and then blow my top. I know it's wrong, but a man can stand just so much.

You know the old saying, Jack, "It takes two to quarrel." When marriage partners find that their life has become one continuous round of arguments, they should both examine their own consciences. Considering the many joint decisions that must be made in the average family cycle, we can expect normal couples to disagree on many points. It is not the incidence of arguments, but the inability to bring them to an acceptable conclusion that marks a maladjusted couple.

Some couples quarrel constantly because they forget that marriage involves joint decisions. Unconsciously or otherwise, they seek unilateral or one-sided solutions to problems that necessarily involve at least two persons. What they are really saying to their partner is, "Be reasonable, do it my way."

For most family problems there are usually several workable solutions possible. If husbands or wives always insist on their own solutions, while refusing to weigh other possibilities or to consider the viewpoints of their spouses, they are missing the essential meaning of marriage as a partnership.

Such persons agree that marriage makes a couple "two in one flesh," but they act as if they were the "one."

Another source of quarrels between husbands and wives is their failure to recognize that their partners are distinct persons and consequently have a round and round, leading nowhere; the tension finally subsides somewhat, and with no clear plans for the future, the situation remains unchanged, obviously destined to generate another quarrel.

When family relationships assume this pattern, communication between spouses is reduced to a minimum. Both partners suffer from the lack of companionship, thus increasing tension and mistrust. The children are usually confused and disturbed by the situation, with the result that their problems become a further source of contention.

WHEN COUPLES find that their marriage has deteriorated to this state, it is high time for both partners to swallow their pride, forget their mutual accusations, and start thinking seriously about saving their souls. If a competent spiritual director or marriage counselor is available, they should seek his help.

At the same time, with full awareness that they must answer to God for their mutual salvation and the souls of their children, they should sit down together and work out an acceptable plan of action, particularly in those areas causing most of their arguments.

This will become possible only if they bring God into the picture, for the sacrifices, adjustments, and mutual concessions they must make will be realized in practice only if they see them as sacred obligations before God.

PASCHAL CANDLE: The tall white candle symbolizes the Risen Christ. This candle will be used by Archbishop Boland at Sacred Heart Cathedral during Easter Vigil Holy Saturday.

'Jungle Flower'

A big one-eyed African who, though shirtless, "seemed to be wearing shoulder pads," and whose "nostrils flared with every breath," stood before the priest who was to baptize him. When the priest asked him what was to be his new name the African replied: "Nasturtium."

The priest was Rev. Thomas P. McGovern, M.M., son of Mrs. Nora McGovern of Jersey City. The man who wanted to be called Nasturtium was one of 700 Bakwaya people baptized in one month at Father McGovern's Nyegina mission.

The incident is told in an article by Father McGovern appearing in the April issue of Maryknoll magazine.

A second member of the Newark Archdiocese, Rev. Laurence T. Murphy, M. M., is represented in the issue with an editorial, "The Missionary Spirit and the Mass." Father Murphy is the son of Mrs. Helen Murphy of Union.

(P. S. Father McGovern prevailed upon "Nasturtium" to choose the name "Nestor" instead. . . and he recommended the burning of all old seed catalogs.)

With Humble Pride

The Good Old Days . . .

By Dan Herr

This column is for adults only—old, over-40 adults, as a matter of dreary fact—and the rest of you will have to get along with no help from me this week.

This is a nostalgic column, a column about the good old days. Most of us keep ourselves so busy on the treadmill, our minds so occupied with today's trivialities that we seldom take time to consider how the world has changed since we fought the war to end wars way back in 1917. Before those days, good and bad, are completely forgotten, think back to the time when:

A FAN WAS a luxury and air-conditioning meant two fans going simultaneously in the same room.

Railroad men were romantic figures—and polite.

Saturday night parties, at least the drinking and eating features, ended at midnight and the long fast began.

The whole family would run outside to see the flying machine.

Catholic books were dull tomes wrapped in brown paper and hidden on the musty shelves of stores devoted to more important merchandise.

The Methodist Board of Temperance and Morals, during Prohibition would say "Jump," and political leaders would ask "How high?"

Clerks in stores and cashiers in restaurants would say "Thank you."

Doctors willingly made house calls, even at night.

It was a battle to get those side-curtains up on the touring car when the rain started.

Everybody was planning to get rich through chain letters.

You could buy bread and cakes and pies and cookies from the bakery wagon—and never since has it tasted better.

The whole town turned out on Memorial Day and the Fourth of July.

Bingo was a game you played at amusement parks.

You hoarded fireworks for weeks and could hardly wait until the glorious day dawned.

THE MILKMAN came every day—and early.

You thought you couldn't live without a drink of water before Mass, but you did.

You got free candy when your father paid the bill at the corner grocery.

Sawdust on the floor was indispensable to a butcher shop.

Some people began reading from a book at Mass which they called a missal.

Saturday night was the big night on Main Street.

The rest of the family hogged the radio earphones.

Rutherford Players Enact Resurrection, Other Mysteries

By June Dwyer

RUTHERFORD — The narrator's voice said clearly: "He is Risen!" The choir echoed "Alleluia," and then the spectators' eyes rested on the tableau of the Resurrection.

The scene has taken place often during the Lenten period as a group of "women dedicated to spreading devotion to Our Lady through the medium of the Rosary" have traveled through North Jersey like wandering minstrels. The cast, and crew are known as the Marian Players of the Catholic Women's Club of Rutherford. They have stepped before more than 100 groups in the last five years to recall through tableau and voice the mysteries of the Rosary, the meaning of Lent or the glories of Mary.

IT ALL BEGAN in March of 1955 when an ambitious program committee worked with needle and thread, stage hair and spirit gum, time and ability, to bring the Sorrowful Mysteries to its membership. The program was so well received that other parish organizations began asking for repeat performances.

The word was soon out that the Catholic Women's Club of Rutherford had a program that was just right for bringing entertainment and a spiritual lift to meetings. The invitations came in and the women responded by adapting a special name for their group, initiating a fee to cover expenses, and expanding their repertoire of tableaux.

THE MARIAN PLAYERS' program is a half-hour presentation which features tableaux introduced by a dramatic reading and musical interludes.

Mrs. Joseph Cardillo, Marian chairman, has written and reads the narratives. She also helps out on occasional vocal solos.

Costumes and staging are under the direction of Mrs. Frank McGillen and Mrs. Neil Reardon is music chairman.

The inspiring portrayal of Christ (pictured at right) is done by Mrs. Herbert Hilliker, who is also current president of the Catholic Women's Club. The cast and crew, which alternates in roles according to the production, totals 24 with an occasional assist coming from one of the other 275 members of the Women's Club.

DURING THE PRESENT season, October through June, 40 performances have already been given with bookings still coming in for May and June. Distance is no problem to the women, who have already appeared in St. Kevin's, Flushing, L.I., and are planning to play in St. Agnes, Paterson; Assumption, Wood Ridge; and Sacred Heart, Wallington.

The Marian Players turn all of their proceeds over to the Women's Club to be added to the building fund for St. Mary's. This is another indication that the theatrical group is also kept busy with the other activities of the parent group.

The Marian Players presented the sufferings of Christ during the first week of Lent and have now changed their costumes with the liturgy as the narrator's voice announces: "He is Risen."

Come May, the same narrator will say: "Hail Mary, full of grace . . ." as the Marian Players continue on their way as Mary's Minstrels.

THE RESURRECTION: Our Lord's appearance to His Mother after His Resurrection from the dead is one of Marian Players' tableaux. Above, Mrs. Herbert Hilliker portrays Christ; Mrs. Thomas O'Donnell, Mary. The Marian Players are a unit of the Catholic Women's Club of Rutherford, who make a specialty of performing tableaux of the mysteries of the Rosary for their own and other Catholic groups. Mrs. Hilliker is current club president.

True Easter Celebration

By Anne Mae Buckley

The most important night of the year is approaching.

This is the way liturgists describe Holy Saturday night, the time of the Easter Vigil.

Because the meaning of the Easter Vigil was obscured by the centuries, today's Catholics tend to view the restored liturgy with considerable confusion as to its meaning and its importance. Yet, it takes only a little study of the rites to understand that what Pope Pius XII restored to us in 1951 is the true celebration of Easter.

The vigil service can be divided into three parts: the ceremony of light, the baptismal service, and the Mass.

It dates from the very earliest Christians, who used to watch together all night praying and singing in anticipation of the resurrection of Our Lord. In those days the vigil was not only a symbolic waiting, but a real one. The early Christians believed that for His second coming Christ would choose this night.

THE EASTER VIGIL, then, is the story of the Christian's life telescoped into one night—prayerful waiting for Christ, Who "shall come in glory to judge the living and the dead."

Baptism is the theme that runs through the Easter Vigil liturgy. It was on this night that baptism was administered in the early Church, and appropriately so, since the catechumen would rise to a new life during the rites marking Christ's rising from the dead to glory.

Similarly, it is the perfect climax to Lent, during which we have tried by fasting and prayer to die to sin.

THE CEREMONY OF LIGHT is one of the most dramatic incidents in the liturgy of the Church in which the people fall into an incident of His life on into step with Christ in relivearth. It begins with the church in darkness — this is the day Christ spent in the tomb. Out side the priest strikes the new fire from a flint, symbolic of Christ, "the cornerstone of our faith."

Then with this new fire the priest lights the large white candle — the Paschal Candle, so beautifully a representation of the Risen Lord.

The Paschal Candle is carried solemnly into the church, the candle in the hand of each person receives a flame from the Paschal Candle, the lights of the church blaze suddenly and "Lumen Christi" (Light of Christ) is chanted three times. In this ceremony the glory of the Risen Christ lives for the people.

Christ is the light of the world, and He illuminates the lives of all Christians, and in His glory the darkness of the tomb gives way to the new life of grace.

The ceremony of light reaches a climax of joy in the singing of the "Exultet" or Paschal Proclamation, a hymn of praise for the victory of the Son of God over death and darkness. Hope and joy are to be had from a careful following of the words. . .

"This is the very night which delivers all who believe in Christ from worldly vice and from darkness of sin, which restores them to grace and makes them co-sharers with saints."

"This is the night in which Christ burst the bonds of death and came forth as Conqueror from the grave. For unless we had been redeemed, it would avail us nothing to be born. . ."

THE BAPTISMAL SERVICE begins with the reading, by the light of the Paschal Candle, of four Old Testament lessons. Thus, the transition from the Old Law to the New is thrown into focus; henceforth, the Old Testament is to be viewed in the light of Christ, its fulfillment. After each, there is a short time for private, prayerful reflection.

The first lesson is the story of creation in which "The spirit of God was stirring above the waters" as later the Spirit should come through the waters of baptism. The second is the story of the passing of the Jews through the waters of the Red Sea for their deliverance from slavery, bringing to mind our deliverance from sin through the waters of baptism.

The third lesson is a prophecy of the coming of the Messiah, and then the canticle of the vineyard, which in turn is prophetic of the founding of the Church (the vineyard) which God will tend lovingly. The last lesson presents the story of Moses and the Ten Commandments from which we take warning to keep faithfully our covenant with God.

Then comes the chanting of the Litany of the Saints, a plea to the blessed to assist all who have been admitted to their communion by baptism. Finally, the priest blesses the baptismal water, with exorcism, with prayers, with the mingling in it of holy oil, and the immersion in it of the Paschal Candle.

THE LITURGY then provides for the administration of baptism to one or more adult candidates. If this is done, it becomes the climax of the baptismal part of the vigil, in which the people witness the entrance of some catechumens into the new life of grace procured by Our Lord by His death and resurrection. Of old the ceremony was held in the baptistry, but now it is performed in the sanctuary in full view of the congregation. Afterwards, the water is carried to the baptistry, where it will be used for the administering of the sacrament all year.

Then, once again the people light the candles they used at the entrance of the Paschal Candle. This time the glow symbolic of the Light of Christ accompanies the common renewal of the Baptismal Promises — renunciation of Satan, affirmation of belief in Christ, Who has proved His divinity by His resurrection.

The priest then blesses the people with the Easter Water, and the baptismal service closes with the chanting of the second part of the Litany of the Saints.

At midnight, in a crescendo of light and flowers the Easter

Laymen Building Marian Chapel

PARIS (RNS) — Four men who have managed to keep their identities a secret for two years are building a chapel as thanks-giving for the miraculous cure one of them claims to have received at the famed shrine of Our Lady of Lourdes.

They have dedicated the chapel, situated on the road between Cagnes-sur-Mer and La Gaude at a spot called Hautes-Collettes, to Our Lady of the Pilots. The men want it to be a landmark for pilots flying over the region, particularly those bound from or to the nearby Nice airport.

All priests wore hats.

Small Sacrifices Daily Help Both You and the Missions

People can be a little wrong when they are pleased with themselves that they are right. When they make sacrifices for the spread of the faith, they have not done a favor to the poor. Rather, it is the poor who through God do favors for them. Those people give best who do it in reparation for their own failings, in thanksgiving for blessings and as a privilege of faith.

Get into the habit of making a tiny sacrifice each day, that is, for instance, in not buying a newspaper, a second cup of coffee, a smoke, a bar of candy. If you deny yourself something each day for the missions, at the end of the year you will have strengthened your will.

Not only will you have done something for yourself, but you will have helped the 135,000 missionaries who receive your offerings from the Holy Father.

Send your sacrifice to the Society for the Propagation of the Faith. By doing something to relieve the sin and the wretchedness and the ignorance of the world, we are showing our love for the Risen Savior.

Only Four Chapels To Serve Converts

Sixty years ago there were no Catholics in Ruanda. Today one-half of the population is Catholic. But 6,700 African converts who are taking instructions in the faith have only four small chapels, 25 feet by 18 feet, to

News From the Marshall Islands

The missionaries are having a census taken in the Marshall Islands. Writing from Likiep, Rev. John T. McCarthy, S.J., says it will not be hard there, because "everyone knows everyone else. The real work will be on Kwajalein, where there are people from all over the Marshall Islands.

"On Kwajalein there is a large turnover population. At that time the ones doing the work constitute a group from which I hope to obtain the nucleus of a sodality. We began the ground-work of a sodality a year ago. Once or twice I have forgotten the meeting date, but the boys and girls never do this and come calling for me.

"One of my parishioners died in September, a 43-year-old woman with nine children. I can easily count them for all are named alphabetically: Agnes, Bertha, Carl, Delma, Elizabeth, Frances, Gustino, Hilary and Irene. The only name to stop me was Gustino. I said Gustino or Augustino, but they said 'no.' It turned out the grandmother made it up to fit the alphabet.

"There is hope of more or less regular mail here from now on. The Navy expects to have between 600 and 700 Catholics on Kwajalein, and I am to be their parish priest. That means availability of planes for my Sunday Mass hops between the islands, and easier collection of mails. It is rough weather time here now but we hope for the best."

Statistics Show Mission Problem

In Nigeria, 90% of the young working people admitting Moslemism practically never assist at service in a mosque or say the Moslem prayers. In the Philippines, 23% of the boys and 34% of the girls refuse to answer questions put to them as to their belief in the Divinity of Christ. In Bolivia, 88% of the young people profess to be practicing Catholics, but only 4.7% of the Nicaraguans and Venezuelans make the same profession. Among the young Belgian Congo workers only 18% of the baptized assist regularly at Sunday Mass — 28% from time to time and 54% only rarely. Of those who go to Mass only 66% receive Communion. In Nigeria 75% of the baptized practice their faith.

While samples are not valid, these figures show the goal toward which missionaries must work in certain countries.

Asks UN Action on Church Persecution

SALZBURG, Austria (RNS) — It is high time that the cause of persecuted Christianity behind the Iron and Bamboo Curtains be brought before the United Nations Security Council, according to Archbishop Andreas Rohrer of Salzburg.

Writing in Volksbote, Innsbruck Catholic weekly, he said that "with full justice, the racial persecutions in South Africa and offenses against minority groups are currently before the United Nations."

"But," he asked, "when will the equally important issue of the communist oppression of hundreds of thousands of Christians in Eastern Europe and Asia be introduced into that world body?"

"FOR YEARS," he said, "clergy and faithful have been tortured, imprisoned and executed for the sole offense of loyalty to their religious beliefs. So-called people's courts have ascribed political motives to Bishops, labeled Princes of the Church as 'reactionaries and tools of imperialism.'"

Archbishop Rohrer cited the "severe oppressions" against the Church and family in East Germany and Hungary. Observing that in the latter country all religious orders, except the Benedictines and Piarists, have been suspended and 3,000 Catholic schools closed, he said conditions in Yugoslavia are no better.

"Up till now," he continued, "we have really no knowledge of the whereabouts of Archbishop Joseph Beran of Prague, nor of Bishops Karel Skoupny of Brno and Joseph Hlouch of Budejovice. Nearly all the Czech hierarchy have either been sentenced to forced labor or are under house arrest.

Leaves $350,000 To the Church

PHILADELPHIA (NC) — A prominent Catholic layman has left the bulk of his $350,000 estate to Catholic charities with the stipulation that $100,000 be used to reclaim Christian sites in the Holy Land.

Michael Francis Doyle, Philadelphia attorney who died Mar. 25 at the age of 84, provided for $151,000 in specific bequests and assigned the rest to Cardinal O'Hara of Philadelphia "for such charitable purposes as he may designate."

Doyle earmarked $50,000 to obtain "by purchase or otherwise" the spot in Jerusalem designated as the site of the Last Supper. Another $50,000 was left to restore "the Holy Tomb of Our Lord" in the Church of the Holy Sepulcher in Jerusalem.

If the trustees find it impossible to purchase the supposed site of the Last Supper, they are to use the money for erection of an appropriate altar in the Basilica of Nazareth now under construction, as a memorial to Doyle's late wife and himself.

Saints of the Week

Sunday, Apr. 17 — Easter Sunday which commemorates the Resurrection of Christ from the dead. Generally, feast of St. Anicetus, Pope-Martyr, a Syrian who succeeded St. Pius I in 155. He defended the Faith against Valentinus, Marcian and other Gnostic heretics. He is said to have been put to death in 166.

Monday, Apr. 18 — Easter Monday. St. Apollonius, Martyr. Beheaded in 186 after accused of being a Christian by one of his slaves and had refused to deny his Faith. He won the name of Apollonius the Apologist for his eloquent defense of his Faith before the Roman senate, of which he was a member. His fellow senators voted his death sentence.

Tuesday, Apr. 19 — Easter Tuesday. St. Timon, Deacon-Martyr. He lived in the first century and was one of the first seven deacons chosen by the Apostles. The Roman Martyrology says he first preached in Be-foes, then was made Bishop of Corinth, where he was crucified by Jews and pagans.

Wednesday, Apr. 20 — Wednesday of Easter Octave. SS. Sulpicius and Servilian, Martyrs. Romans whose conversions traditionally are attributed to prayers of St. Flavia Domitilla. Beheaded for the Faith about 117.

Thursday, Apr. 21 — Thursday of Easter Octave. St. Anselm of Canterbury, Bishop-Confessor, Doctor. He was born of noble parents in Aosta, Italy, in 1033 and joined the Benedictines. He was named Archbishop of Canterbury in 1093 but was twice banished from his See because of his resistance to Kings William Rufus and Henry I over the investitures of Bishops. Died 1109.

Friday, Apr. 22 — Friday of Easter Octave. SS. Soter an Calus, Popes-Martyrs. St. Soter, an Italian, succeeded Pope St. Anicetus in 166, was noted for his charity to the poor, and is said to have been martyred in 175. St. Calus was a Dalmatian and a relative of Emperor Diocletian. He succeeded Pope St. Eutychian in 283. Though he was not put to death for the Faith, his many sufferings for religion earned him the title of Martyr. He died in 296.

Saturday, Apr. 23 — Saturday of Easter Octave. St. George, Martyr. The patron of England is revered highly in the East and West. He was an officer under the Christian emperor, Emperor Diocletian. He is said to have rebuked the emperor for his persecution of Christians, refused to sacrifice to pagan gods, and was beheaded in 303.

Pledge $400 to Elizabeth Citizens Decency Group

ELIZABETH—More than $400 in pledges have been received by the Citizens Cooperative for Decent Literature, a Union County newsstand watch-dog group. The total was announced Apr. 11 by Rev. Roland W. Muenzen, assistant pastor of St. Michael's Church, Elizabeth, one of the trustees of the new organization.

St. Peter's Named For Teacher Institutes

WASHINGTON — St. Peter's College is one of 18 Catholic colleges and universities which will offer special institutes for high school science and mathematics teachers to be sponsored next school year by the National Science Foundation.

The foundation, an arm of the Federal government charged with promoting research and higher teacher qualifications, announced that 9,000 teachers will attend the institutes, which will be held during out-of-school hours.

The foundation allocated about $2.1 million to pay allowances for teachers attending the institute and to pay direct costs of operation.

In three years, it was stated, more than 12,000 public and private school teachers have attended such institutes.

Contributions have come from civic, fraternal and religious groups as well as from individuals, according to Father Muenzen.

The CCDL finances a series of monthly newspaper advertisements listing newsdealers who cooperate in keeping their shelves free of publications on the banned list of the National Organization for Decent Literature.

Dr. Matthew McCue, Elizabeth, was named chairman of the organization at a meeting Apr. 8. Mrs. Edmund C. Heskin of Elizabeth was named secretary.

Named with Father Muenzen as trustees are State Senator Robert C. Crane of Westfield, author of a series of 1957 laws relating to obscene literature; John J. Hall, retired chief editorial writer of the Elizabeth Daily Journal; James Tracey and William Maguire, both of Clark Township.

Additional appointments to the board of trustees will be announced soon, Dr. McCue said.

Bishops in Lithuania, Latvia Send Messages to Holy Father

ROME (NC)—Bishops in Lithuania and Latvia, two Baltic republics incorporated by the Soviet Union after the war, have sent their respects and devotion to Pope John XXIII through an Italian journalist.

Ettore Della Giovanna, correspondent of the Rome daily Il Tempo, has returned from a lengthy tour of the Soviet Union.

He reported he had visited Auxiliary Bishop Julijonas Steponavicius of Panevezys, who lives in Vilna, Lithuania, and Bishop Peters Strods, Apostolic Administrator of the Diocese of Liepaja, Latvia.

Della Giovanna met great difficulty in trying to interview

Bishop Steponavicius in Vilna. When he was finally granted permission, he was accompanied by an interpreter and a representative of the Soviet commission for religious worship for Lithuania.

The Italian journalist reported that the Bishop "seemed truly happy to be able to talk with someone who had come from Rome."

"The conversation touched on matters of tourism, and the Bishop only asked me to tell him some of the contacts of Pope John with the faithful, requesting me at the end to convey his sentiments of devotion to the Pontiff."

Della Giovanna said he interviewed Bishop Strods at Riga, Latvia, after again encountering much communist opposition.

Bishop Strods told him: "We do not have communication with Rome. The Soviet government has said that it will take into consideration our desire to participate in the ecumenical council if it receives an official request from the Holy See."

The newsman said that the Bishop also told him: "We are devoted to the Holy Father as always and we will be faithful until death."

RELIGIOUS persecution in Lithuania and Latvia has been severe since they were made a part of the U.S.S.R. following World War II. Both were former parts of Tsarist Russia that won their independence after World War I.

At the time of its annexation to the Soviet Union, Lithuania had a population of about three million, 80% Catholic.

When the Soviets took over the country they exiled nearly all Catholic Lithuanian intellectual leaders and many others to Siberia for forced labor or imprisonment. Many died because of torture or hardships. Some 500,000 people were deported.

Among those sent to Siberia were about 400 priests and several hundred Sisters. Today only about 800 priests are left in the nation, compared with 1,800 before 1940. No religious communities remain and all properties of former communities have been confiscated.

Religious instruction for children is strictly forbidden, even in churches. Last month it was reported that two priests were arrested, one for "illegally teaching religion to children."

BEFORE LATVIA was taken over by the U.S.S.R., its approximately 500,000 Catholics accounted for about a quarter of the nation's total population of two million. They suffered much the same fate as did Catholics in neighboring Lithuania. Priests and laymen were deported, and of the country's one Archbishop and three Bishops, two are known to be imprisoned.

Cardinal Koenig Is Out of Hospital

VIENNA (NC)—Cardinal Koenig, injured in an automobile accident while en route to the funeral of Cardinal Stepinac, is back home after being hospitalized for 47 days.

Although the 54-year-old Archbishop of Vienna was released Mar. 31 from the hospital, he has to wear light, invisible jaw supports because of multiple jaw fractures in the accident.

Nations to Broadcast Pope's Easter Message

VATICAN CITY (RNS)—Twelve European countries have applied for permission to relay the Easter Message of Pope John XXIII which will be broadcast over the Vatican Radio at noon on Easter Sunday, station officials announced.

They said the countries were Austria, West Germany, France, Italy, Portugal, Monaco, Switzerland, Ireland, Holland, Portugal, Belgium and Spain.

Baptists Warned to Avoid Religious Presidential Test

NEW YORK (RNS)—If Protestants oppose on merely religious grounds the nomination or election of a Catholic as President, they will "perpetrate one of the greatest public relations blunders of all time," the editor of Crusader, official monthly magazine of the American Baptist Convention, warned here.

"There are many valid issues upon which the forthcoming presidential campaign should be waged, but voting for or against a candidate on the basis of his religious affiliation is not one of them," declared Paul C. Allen in an editorial.

Emphasizing that "there is no religious test for the Presi-

Nixon Says U. S. Should Give Birth Control Data on Request

WASHINGTON (NC)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon said here that if underdeveloped nations seek birth control information from the United States, "we should give it to them."

However, he said, the United States should not offer such information to underdeveloped countries unless they request it. The Vice President made his statements while replying informally to questions during an appearance at the annual convention of the Associated Church Press.

Nixon said that the government and people of an underdeveloped country "must reach a decision on their own" about whether they wish to limit population growth.

He remarked that the underdeveloped nations of Africa and Asia have an intense national pride, and would resent having Americans tell them what to do. He said the late Mahatma Gandhi, leader of India's independence movement, had denounced birth control even more strongly than does the Catholic Church.

UNDERDEVELOPED countries "must develop their own program and policies within their own cultures," he declared. "If they reach a decision that they want to limit population growth at a certain point and come to us for assistance, we should give it to them."

"For us to say that we would not help them to combat misery and ill health would not be a good policy," he said.

Nixon declared that he agrees with the position taken last December by President Eisenhower that the U.S. should not volunteer birth control information.

(On Dec. 2, the President told a news conference: "I cannot imagine anything more emphatically a subject that is not a proper political, or governmental activity or function or responsibility" than distributing birth control information.)

(He added that "this has nothing to do with governmental contact with other governments." Mr. Eisenhower said that if underdeveloped nations wish to seek birth control information, "they will go unquestionably to professional groups, not to governments.")

(As long as he is President, Mr. Eisenhower added, "this government has no... positive political doctrine in its program that has to do with this problem of birth control. That's not our business.")

Nixon also said he would deplore the injection of religion into this year's presidential campaign. Commenting on the recent Wisconsin primary elections, in which Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, a Catholic, defeated Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, a Protestant, in Democratic voting, he said "there may not have been as many religion-influenced votes" as some observers have suggested.

Charges That Mexican Textbook Aims to De-Christianize Students

MEXICO, Mexico (NC)—A textbook which must be used in all Mexican schools tries to de-Christianize students, it has been charged here.

The charge was made in an open letter by Criterio, weekly newspaper of the Yucatan Archdiocese. The letter was addressed to Vittorino Veronese, director general of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, who was visiting in Mexico when the letter was published.

The letter said that the Secretariat for Education had acknowledged that the aim of the text—obligatory for private as well as public schools—"is to de-Christianize—to remove fanaticism, as they call it in our country."

Recently a Catholic parents' organization in Mexico City protested imposition of a single textbook in all public and private elementary schools. The Catholic-oriented weekly Mundo Mejor also criticized use of a single text as an attempt to regiment students.

Mexican law does not permit religious instruction in schools. However, the law does acknowledge the part played by parents in education.

The parents' organization complained that the new text does not show that parents themselves have an educational mission in the home.

The 100-page book deals with Spanish grammar, writing, arithmetic, natural science, geography, civics and history.

Have You Thought of Christmas Lately

By June Dwyer

Have you been thinking about Christmas this holy week as we are getting ready for the glorious Resurrection on Easter Sunday? You probably have not, for your thoughts are of the Cross and the black skies and the suffering Christ.

But we can think of Christmas, Young Advocates, for without Christmas there would be no Easter. The world that had no room in the Inn for Mary and Joseph and then rejoiced at the Birth of the Infant King is the same world that hung Jesus on a Cross—and the same world that gloried in the news that He had risen.

AT CHRISTMAS time we had the tree and the tinsel to make us happy. We had the shining stars and the wonderful gifts and the crib and the shepherds and the wise men.

During the Passion of Jesus the tree became a cross and the shiny tinsel turned into shiny swords that led Jesus to His death. The stars were not out when Christ died; the heavens were dark and the heavens were filled with thunder.

There was no gift for Christ—unless we think it was the bitter vinegar they gave Him on a spear. There was no crib for the tiny King; there was only a cold tomb to put the body of Jesus. There were no friends around to smile and laugh or to help Our Lord; there was only Veronica who broke through the crowd to wipe Our Lord's face or Mary whose heart was broken to see her Son suffer so.

WITHOUT the joy of the little Baby there could not have been the sadness of the death of Jesus. Without the death of Jesus there could not have been the glory of the Resurrection.

That is Christ's message to us, Young Advocates. There is a time for the Passion and for "no room in the Inn" and there is a time for Christmas and Easter. There is a time, too, for us to be sad and hurt and there is a time for us to be happy.

Christmas and Easter and the Passion have something else that make them very much alike: In each of them Christ gave us the gift of Himself. At Christmas He gave us His life; during the Passion He gave us His death; at Eastertide He gave us all a new life by opening the Gates of Heaven so we might enter.

This Easter is like Christmas for you too. For you and you and I must give Christ a gift. The same gift we gave Him at Christmas—ourselves. Happy Easter.

Lives of the Saints

Easter's Saint

Easter is one of the feast days that changes its date. This year it falls on the feast day that is normally set aside to honor St. Innocent, a Bishop who lived in Italy about 300 years after Christ's Resurrection.

Innocent was always a Christian. In those days Christians were thought to be enemies of

Foundress' Body Found in France

NANCY, France (NC) — A skeleton discovered 10 years ago by workers converting a wine cellar here into a jazz club has been identified as the remains of Blessed Alix Le Clerc.

Final word on the results of a 10-year medical and historical examination into the skeleton has arrived here from Rome.

Blessed Alix, foundress of the local Congregation of Sisters of Notre Dame, was born in 1576 and died here in 162. During the French Revolution her remains were hidden to escape profanation. She was declared venerable in 1899 and was beatified in 1947.

the government and they were persecuted. But Innocent's family was not persecuted. Because of service to the government, Innocent's father, mother and brothers and sisters were safe.

THE SPECIAL protection did not last after Innocent's parents died. The young man was called before the court and told to offer sacrifices to the false gods. He would not.

The court said that Innocent was to be tortured and then tied to a stake where he would be killed. They took the prisoner to the jail and put him in a cell.

During the night before he was to die, Innocent had a dream about his father. His father told him to go at once to Rome where he would be safe. The young man awoke and found that his guards were sleeping. He was able to walk right out of the prison and to escape to Rome.

WHEN Innocent arrived in Rome, he went to see Pope St. Miltiades who was very kind to him. Later Innocent became a priest. When Emperor Constantine took the throne and gave freedom to Christians, Innocent was made a Bishop and sent back to his homeland in Northern Italy.

For 28 years Innocent ruled his people as a Bishop, spreading the Faith and building churches. The life that the pagans had tried to steal from him was given back with his escape—much as Christ's Resurrection gave us the life of our Church.

PARAMUS—Sister Vincent de Paul, public relations director at St. Joseph's Village, Rockleigh, was the speaker at the Bergen-Paramus District Council of Catholic Women meeting recently at Annunciation Church. She spoke of her life before entering the religious order and since becoming a nun. She pointed out that regardless of our station in life, a sense of humor and trust in God will carry us through.

The slate of officers will be presented at the next meeting of the council to be held May 19 at St. Joseph's, Demarest.

Buying Bunnies or Babies

MONTCLAIR — St. Vincent's Hospital's Halloran Pavilion is trying to sell babies for Easter instead of traditional chickens and bunnies. Well, not exactly sell... rather "raise funds for."

The new Easter program is aimed at having individuals or groups adopt a baby for a day at a cost of $5. The sponsor receives a certificate of "ownership" in appreciation for his help in supporting one of the 100 orphans a year who come to the pavilion.

The program is presently under the direction of Sister Clare Dolores, administrator. She is assisted by Auxiliary members who will give tours of the nursery by appointment.

St. Benedict's, Bergen Catholic Lead Break From 1960 Baseball Barrier

NEWARK — St. Benedict's Prep and Bergen Catholic have become the early favorites for high honors during the 1960 baseball season, following their fast break from the barrier last week.

The Bees, with the heaviest schedule of any North Jersey team, won their first four starts within a six-day period to take expected ranking as top club in the area. Seton Hall and St. Michael's (UC) were included in the Bees' list of victims. Bergen made a resounding debut, thanks to the pitching of Roy Turci, who threw a no-hitter at St. Luke's on Apr. 8. The Crusaders followed up this 5-0 victory with a 13-5 rout of Sacred Heart on Apr. 11. This latter score was almost exactly duplicated as Pope Pius opened defense of its share of the Tri-County Catholic "A" Conference crown with a 14-5 defeat of Queen of Peace the same day.

Heinsohn Stars As Celtics Win

BOSTON—Tommy Heinsohn, former St. Michael's (UC) star, again played a leading role as the Boston Celtics retained their National Basketball Association playoff title with a 122-103 victory over St. Louis here on Apr. 9.

The ex-Holy Cross All-American tallied 22 points and wound up high scorer for the series as Boston was forced to seven games by an injury-riddled Hawk team. Heinsohn was forced to sit out a good part of the finale after being tagged with four fouls in the first 15 minutes of play.

It is possible that two more North Jersey players may join Heinsohn in the N.B.A. next year. Jerry Bechtel, former St. Mary's (E) star, was drafted by the New York Knickerbockers, while Jerry Vayda, one-time St. Peter's great, may decide to formally turn pro on being discharged from the Air Force.

Vayda missed a chance to make the United States Olympic team when he was disqualified from playing with the Air Force All-Stars in the recent National AAU championships. Seems that Jerry had a tryout with a pro team before entering the Air Force three years ago, though this fact did not keep him out of the world's amateur championships in 1959.

Weatherman Relents, But College Bats Are Idle

SOUTH ORANGE—The weather man finally relented last weekend and allowed the collegiate baseball season to open in North Jersey, but the long wait had evidently dulled the batting eyes of Seton Hall and St. Peter's players.

St. Peter's got in the first game against Montclair State on Apr. 9 and was victim of a 2-0 shutout. To make matters worse, the whitewash was the work of four Montclair pitchers, who limited the Peacock batters to just four hits.

After four rainouts, Seton Hall finally opened against Colgate on Apr. 11 and didn't have much better luck than St. Peter's. The Pirates did manage to dent the plate, but only in the ninth inning and dropped a 3-2 decision to the touring Red Raiders.

THE ONE BRIGHT note of both contests was the way the pitching stood up for both local clubs. Frank Machuga limited Montclair to eight hits, while Phil Keemer held Colgate to only four hits, struck out 11 and lost only because he walked four and hit another in the three-run second inning.

Hank Furch and Ed Balzarotti led the nine-hit Seton Hall attack with three safeties apiece and it was Furch who batted home both Pirate runs in the ninth inning.

Others named in the MVP category were Angie Marotta in baseball, Bob Kasko in track and field, Tom Clark in swimming, Art Rennings in soccer and Vincent O'Neill in tennis.

Selected as the most improved athletes in each sport were: basketball — Bill Brooks; Baseball — Ray Newman; swimming — Richard White; track and field — Mike Wherry; tennis — Ed Schell; soccer — Tom Reilly.

Turci's Hurling Makes Crusaders Choice in Tight Tri-County Race

ORADELL — The master of the no-hit game, Roy Turci of Bergen Catholic, appears to hold the key to the Tri-County Catholic "A" Conference baseball pennant race, a race which promises to be just as exciting as the four-way contest of a year ago.

Turci, who pitched two official no-hitters last season (plus seven innings of no-hit ball during a nine-inning contest with Teaneck), opened the 1960 campaign by blanking St. Luke's without a hit last week.

Bergen wound up in a tie with Pope Pius for the title last year, thanks to Turci's efforts, with Queen of Peace and Don Bosco only a game behind the leaders. All four clubs are stocked with veterans this year, as are St. Cecilia's (E) and St. Joseph's.

PITCHING SO OFTEN makes the difference in high school ball that the favorite's role must go to Bergen which can back up Turci with husky John Waibel. Pope Pius has Gerry Mackin returning, while Don Bosco still has Hank Karlson. But the second string pitchers on these clubs have yet to prove themselves.

St. Cecilia's may move into the picture on the strength of its great one-two pitching punch, Bill Brendel and transfer student Jim Phillips. Queen of Peace was stripped of its pitching corps by graduation, but still has all-star shortstop Pat Honey. St. Joseph's pitchers are returning but with woeful records after being blanked in league competition last year.

Here is a team-by-team rundown in alphabetical order, with 1959 records in parentheses:

BERGEN CATHOLIC (11-8) — Turci (6-1) and Waibel (2-4) head an almost all-veteran team. Jerry Donovan, a southpaw, will also do some pitching. Dan Connelly is behind the plate. Waibel will share first base duties with Neil Donohue, Art Flynn (lone newcomer) is at second, John Groh at short, cage star George Jonic at third and Tom Godfrey, Dan Hopkins (316) and Bill Keegan (321) in the outfield. The top reserves are Bob Boyle, Mike O'Brien and Joe Mele. Club has experience and schedule to prove itself one of the best in the state.

DON BOSCO (8-9) — The only 300 hitter, John Procaccio, graduated, but the rest of the team is back almost without exception. Battery should be strong with Karlson (6-2), Jim Sisco (1-2) and Kevin O'Hara pitching to Steve Murray. Ed Pella is on first, Don Waraksa on second, Tom Podgorski on short and Jim Jimenez on third, with John Grillo, Tom Heavey, O'Hara and Jim Mistretta in the outfield. In reserve are Bill Van Vooren, Dan Jorgeson and Ray Padkowski. If outfield shapes up, Dons could go all the way under new coach Jim Guida.

POPE PIUS (11-9) — Graduation took only two men, but they were keys to success last year: catcher Richie Takacs and pitcher-outfielder Bill Sips. Mackin (4-5, 375) will alternate between pitching and first base duties with Bob Marosits (2-0). Denny DeLorenzo is a third pitcher. Al Satkowski and Vince Meany are struggling for Takacs job. Bob Flejzok or Gene Gyesky will be at second, Walt Seifert at short, Joe Augusciak at third (unless Dick Knothe chases him to outfield) and Joe Cussick, Tony Cioce and Meany, Augusciak or Marosits in the outfield.

QUEEN OF PEACE (9-11) — The pitching problem is acute here with Bill Wood (2-1) the only man of record from last year, backed by Bob Richmond and outfielders Ron Timpanaro and Bob Moore. Ineligibility of catcher Jack Reid has added to headaches of new coach Jack Speary. Art Bremner will be behind the plate in Reid's place, Pat Harmon has moved in from garden to first base, Richie Billotti is on second, Honey on short, Tom Hart on third and Ed Ryan in the outfield with Moore and Timpanaro. Ray Schaefer and John Gilmore add the bench strength.

ST. CECILIA'S (5-13) — If Brendel and Phillips come through as expected and the infield holds up, this club could make plenty of trouble for favorites. The outfield is set with Brendel or Phillips to team with veterans John Vignone and Danny Coughlin. Jack Pontano or Harry Thimble will be behind the plate, Tom Zurlo on first, Jim Seville on second, Billy Ryan on short and Jim Brennan on third. Ryan is the key to the infield problem. Top reserves are Neil Falcone and Ray Raparelli.

ST. JOSEPH'S (2-18) — Another new coach, Marty Seglio, takes over here with a long road ahead from last year's debacle. Ralph Cinque (0-10) and John Comiskey (0-1) will handle pitching, with George Stillson on first, Charles Gutschmidt on second, Dan Boucher on short and Charles Meisse on third. Richie Diehl has moved in from outfield to handle catching, leaving Ron Dollard, Art Mirante and John Bonacie in outfield. Freshman Tom Brooks is all-around handyman with sops Ken Bewhouse and Ken Steidel also in reserve.

Delbarton, Morris Catholic Will Make Strong Bids for Loop Diamond Honors

MORRISTOWN — Two Morris County teams, Delbarton and Morris Catholic, appear to have a good chance of wrapping up baseball pennants in their respective leagues during the 1960 campaign.

Of the five schools in the Paterson Diocese and in Bergen County, which do not have affiliation with Catholic leagues, these two appear to be the only ones with the talent to bring home winning records this season. Delbarton shared the Ivy League crown last year but should win it outright this time. The Green Wave has everyone back but outfielder Tom Tappen and second baseman Bob Dunn, now starring with the Georgetown frosh. Pitcher George Martin and third baseman Dan Cacchio head the list of veterans.

Morris had a 3-1 record against varsity teams last year with no more than sophomores in the school. All of those boys are back and seem ready to make a bold bid in the Northwest Jersey Conference. Our Lady of the Lake is also in this loop, but an opening 7-1 loss to Blairstown seems to discount the Lakers as title material.

There follows a team-by-team alphabetical rundown of the five schools, with 1959 records in parentheses:

BAYLEY-ELLARD (11-0) — The perfect record of last year included the North Jersey Catholic "B" title and leaves this year's club a lot to match. Four veterans head the club: pitcher-shortstop Joe Giordano, catcher Jack Kopas, second baseman Tony Allocco and outfielder Lou Chiarolanzo (324). Jerry D'Emilio is the other pitcher, Ed Marks is at first, Dan McCann at third, Ed Nauer and either Bob DeVenezia, Ken Stephano or Richie Ryan in the outfield. Reserves are catcher Frank Haskew, second baseman Ed Gillingham, shortstop John Lafferty, pitcher-outfielders Mike Malone and Phil Hurley and infielder Bob Jones.

DELBARTON (12-2) — Martin (7-2) is backed up by Frank Soriano (4-0) to give the Green Wave solid mound strength. Tom Helfenstein behind the plate, George Roff at first, Jim Valentine in Dunn's spot at second, Ted Stearns at short, Cacchio at third and Ken Cote, Bob Lynyak and Leo Geary in the outfield complete the veteran roster. Tommy Martin will spell Helfenstein in the catching post.

MORRIS CATHOLIC (9-3) — Still without seniors, this club will have next year to look forward to, should it fail this time. Don Davis (3-2), Frank Sommer (1-0) and Ed Hardy (4-0) are the pitchers, with Hardy also playing at second. Charles (Taxi) Call is behind the plate, Ed Tichy (360) at first, Bob Parkhill at second, Joe Daley at short, Tom Russo (300) at third and Joe Townsend (345), Gary Marcello and Ray Pietrowicz in the outfield. Two freshmen, Ed Mahon and Dan Vanderwerf, are chief reserves.

OUR LADY OF THE LAKE (3-9) — Two transfer students, Lew Stowe and Lew Liptak, have aided the pitching problem, backing up John DeBergh (3-3). The rest of the team is veteran: Joe Abdy at catcher, Tim Morris at first, Tom Madden at second, Vince Mulhall at short and Dave Morris at third, Dario DiRupo, Tom Dowling and either DeBergh or Stowe in the outfield. Paul Madden and Jim Mulhall, younger brothers of Tom and Vince, will see some action.

ST. MARY'S (R) (11-9) — There are few seniors on this team, which is headed by veteran outfielders Richie Higgins (352) and Tom Martello. Mike McCartney, Howie Spellman and Jim Duigan will handle the pitching, Gerry Stefanacci is behind the plate, Phil Sheridan on first, Wayne Byrne on second, Arnie Kunz or Luke English on short, Jim Kelly on third and Tom Parry in the other outfield slot. This is strictly a "next year" team.

North Arlington Pair Win at Table Tennis

NORTH ARLINGTON—Joseph Demers of Queen of Peace Council and Mrs. Milton Prybick of the Queen of Peace Auxiliaries took top honors in the first Knights of Columbus state table tennis tournament, held Apr. 2 at the North Arlington council's clubrooms.

Demers won the men's singles then teamed with his victim to take the doubles title. Women's play followed the same pattern with Mrs. Prybick defeated Mrs. Robert Reichen of Our Lady of Fatima Council and then joining her to take the doubles crown.

Honor Manhardt, Murray

NEW YORK — Jim Manhardt of St. Mary's (E) and Ken Murray, coach of Our Lady of the Valley, were the North Jersey representatives chosen for the second annual Catholic Press metropolitan all-star basketball team, honored Apr. 7 at the Tavern-on-the-Green.

A capacity crowd of over 150 was on hand to pay tribute to the five all-met players, the coach of the year and the all-regional squads chosen by The Advocate, The Catholic News and The Tablet.

Named with Manhardt to the all-star team were Myles Dorch of Cardinal Hayes, Dick McClory of All Hallows, Tony Greer of St. Francis Prep and Pete Broderick of St. Agnes Cathedral, Rockville Center, L. I. Each of these boys received a handsome silver-plated trophy.

JERRY MOLLOY, St. Peter's College baseball coach, again acted as master of ceremonies and kept the crowd in a jovial mood throughout. At one point, his pointed shots at All Hallows coach Dick King made young McClory so weak that it was a wonder Dick was able to walk up to the dais for his trophy later on.

Speakers also included coaches Don Kennedy of St. Peter's College, Johnny Bach of Fordham, Danny Lynch of St. Francis College, and Jim McDermott of Iona, as well as Rev. Matthew Peter, president of the New York CHSAA, and Floyd Anderson, managing editor of The Advocate. Jack Butler of The Catholic News and The Tablet was toastmaster.

The special award got long service to basketball went to Herb and Ed Hess, a pair of brothers who serve, respectively, as basketball coaches of St. John's Prep, Brooklyn, and the St. Agnes Cathedral CVO teams.

Trophies were also presented to all members of the regional all-star teams, as well as the top coaches of the New York and Brooklyn-Long Island areas.

Pirate Quartet at Quantico

SOUTH ORANGE — The Seton Hall University one-mile relay team will open its 1960 outdoor campaign this weekend when it takes part in the Quantico Invitation Relays at Quantico Marine Base, Va.

Joe Clويد, Karl Gross, Frank Finn and Bob Kasko are all in prime condition after suffering a variety of ailments during the past indoor season. They hope to run under 3:20 in this first outdoor outing and then get down to 3:15 by Penn Relay time.

Many other North Jersey athletes will be active at Quantico for their various colleges. Henry White and Larry St. Clair of Elizabeth will be running for Manhattan, with White taking his first crack at the 400-meter hurdles.

Elizabeth Wins
NEWARK — Elizabeth won the New York-New Jersey District Knights of Lithuania bowling title, rolling up 64-1/2 points to 52 for Kearny and Newark which tied for second place.

NEWARK — Rosemary Ann Feller of Bayley Ellard and August Salvado of St. Mary's (Paterson) won high honors in two regional Science Fairs last week and qualified for the 11th National Science Fair to be held May 11-14 in Indianapolis.

Miss Feller shared top honors

Baseball Meeting For Union CYO

ELIZABETH—A baseball planning meeting will be held Apr. 18 at the Union County CYO office to set up schedules for the suburban grammar school and county intermediate leagues for the current season.

Norbert Van Bergen, athletic chairman, announced that the grammar school league will operate on weekday afternoons, rather than on Friday evenings and Saturday mornings as in past years.

with Barbara Jones of Springfield Regional in the Greater Newark Science Fair held Apr. 9 at Newark College of Engineering. Her exhibit was "The Chemistry of Behavior," a study of the effects of various drugs on the nervous system.

Salvado placed second in the biology division of the North Jersey Science Fair at Fairleigh-Dickinson University for his project, "The Adrenal Glands." He will be accompanied to Indianapolis by his teacher, Sister Michael Bernard, O.P., while Miss Feller will be joined by Sister Mary Virginia, her sponsoring teacher.

BOTH BAYLEY and St. Mary's also scored in other divisions of the two competitions. Albert Wood of Bayley placed first in chemistry with his "Chemotherapy of Cancer," J. William Goetz was second in mathematics with "Hyperbolic Parabolas," and Fred A. Mettler placed second in biology group B, and won the Society of American Bacteriologists award for "Behind Heredity."

Other St. Mary's students to score were Marie Francia, who won second prize in mathematics at the North Jersey Fair, earning a trip to Chicago in October for participation in the National Youth Conference on the Atom, and Gary Moshier, who took first place in physics with "Rotational Speed of the Sun," winning a grant for a course in transistor electronics and being named second alternate for an Atlantic cruise with the Navy this summer.

John O'Brien of Pope Pius also scored in the Greater Newark Fair, placing second in biology, group A, with "Effect of Chemical Mutagenic Agents on the Parental Age Effect in Drosophila."

DOLORES BALL of St. Mary's (Paterson) placed in the top 10% in the local tournament sponsored by the Future Engineers of America. Barbara Fox of St. Aloysius Academy has won a scholarship to Mt. St. Vincent College of Riverdale, N. Y.

Five Mt. St. Dominic Academy students received special mention for their poems which will be published in "Young America Sings."

They were Joan O'Connell, Joanne Cafiero, Dana Dowd Julia Herr and Carol Zusi. Al told, 18 Mt. St. Dominic students will have poems published in the national high school anthology.

Members of the editorial staff of "Lakeview," Our Lady of the Lake (Sparta) school paper, were inducted into the Quill and Scroll Society on Mar. 31 with Msgr. John F. McKenna, school director, presiding at the ceremony.

Orators Head to Nationals, 1-Act Play Contest Opens

NEWARK — With the archdiocesan oratorical champions heading for the national championships at Washington next week, attention in CYO cultural circles now turns to the annual one-act play contest, due to open in two counties on Apr. 18.

Arthur D'Italia of Mt. Virgin (Garfield) joined John Noonan of St. Patrick's (Elizabeth) as the Newark archdiocesan delegates to the oratorical finals on Apr. 19 in the Shoreham Hotel. D'Italia won the senior boys title on Apr. 6 at Sacred Heart (Lyndhurst) and outscored Sharon Smith of St. Aloysius (Jersey City), the girls' titlist.

Placing second to D'Italia in the boys contest was Richard Skelly of St. Cecilia's (Kearny), while Sally Dungan of St. Philip the Apostle (Saddle Brook) was runner-up to Miss Smith. The topic for the national contest will again be the 1959 Bishop's statement on "Freedom and Peace."

PRESENTING THE St. Sebastian Memorial Scholarship to the winner at Washington will be Albert J. Schwind of Clifton, national Vice Commander of the Catholic War Veterans.

Action will open in the play contest at St. Vincent's (Bayonne) and St. Thomas the Aposttle (Bloomfield) on the 18th. All four counties will require preliminary rounds in their junior divisions, but Union and Bergen will not get under way until Apr. 25.

The Hudson schedule also calls for competition on Apr. 20 at St. Andrew's (Bayonne) and on Apr. 26 at St. Aloysius (Jersey City), with the senior final slated for Apr. 22 at St. Vincent's. In Essex, the other first round contests will be Apr. 20 at St. Catherine of Siena (Cedar Grove), Apr. 22 at St. Rose of Lima (Short Hills) and Apr. 25 at St. Aloysius (Newark).

Banquet Headed by Presentation

NEWARK — The sixth annual presentation of the St. George Medal will feature the Catholic Scouters Banquet to celebrate the 50th anniversary of Boy Scouting in America on Apr. 24 at the Irvington House.

Past winners of the award are John Merity of Jersey City, 1955; Joseph Petrik of Cranford, 1956; Walter Measday of Westwood, 1957; Howard Reilly of Westwood, 1958, and Dr. Walter Robinson of Bayonne, 1959. Archbishop Boland will present the medal and also preside and speak at the banquet.

Inaugurated in 1954 by the National Conference of Diocesan Scout Chaplains, the medal is given to a layman who has been outstanding in fostering the spiritual aspects of the Scout program under Church sponsorship through such activities as providing transportation for boys to Mass at summer camps, promoting religious observance of Boy Scout Sunday, etc.

Principal speaker at the banquet will be Rev. Thomas G.

Smith, former chaplain for the Robert Treat Council area, and presently spiritual director at Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, Emmitsburg, Md.

The banquet will begin at 7 p.m. and be preceded by an hour-long display of exhibits and workshops dealing with Catholic-sponsored Scoutcraft. Arrangements for the display are being made by James Quinn of Ridgefield, former chairman of the North Bergen area committee.

ST. MONICA is the patron saint of mothers.

Left to right, they are Rosemary Feller, who won one of the two grand prizes, J. William Goetz, who placed second in mathematics, and Albert Wood, who won first prize in chemistry. Missing is Fred Mettler, who took second place in biology and also won a special award.

WOULD YOU LIKE A PRIEST IN YOUR FAMILY?

The Missionary Servants of the Most Holy Trinity offer you the opportunity to "adopt" a seminarian and thus enjoy the blessings and privileges of giving a priest to God.

Your adopted seminarian will pray for you each day and remember you in each Mass he offers when a priest. You will write to him and receive his picture. In a way, he becomes a member of your family and you become a member of ours, sharing in the Masses and prayers of all Missionary Servants. Like those who have already adopted seminarians, you will find peace and happiness in this plan.

As a Foster Parent you would pray for your seminarian and help us provide for his support during the final six years of his seminary training. This support is small compared to the rewards of lifelong prayer and sacrifice for you.

If you would like to make this your "special charity," write us today. We will be happy to send further information. Of course, there is never any obligation whatever.

Won't you take a seminarian into your heart and let him become the priest in your family? Write to:

What Did the Artist See?

By Msgr. William F. Furlong

Norman Rockwell is, without a doubt, one of America's greatest artists. And much of his success, he claims, is due to the people whom he chose to have pose for him. From each he endeavored to capture and put in oil on a canvas an expression of an indescribable something inside of them. "What you are inside," said the famous artist, "shows in your face."

Perhaps that explains a statement made recently by another great American artist, Bernard Godwin. He was privileged to paint the first portrait from life of Pope John XXIII. Having studied hundreds and hundreds of photographs of the Supreme Pontiff; having veritably memorized the smallest details and expressions; having had the privilege of sitting very close to the Papal throne when the Holy Father offered Mass, and having had the opportunity to study Pope John closely and intently, the artist wrote this about him, "As the Mass came to an end, he descended from the altar. His countenance had about it a unique spiritual quality, as though the Lord had looked upon him and suffused his face with a special glory. I was never to see exactly the same expression on the Pope's face again."

Other Priests Too
What did the artist see? Was it an expression manifesting in some indescribable way the Christ Who was within the Pope? That Christ Who, but moments before, had said through the lips of the Supreme Pontiff, "This is My Body... This is the Chalice of My Blood..."

Is that indefinable Christlike expression to be seen only on the face of the Pope? It was there only after he had done what every priest can do. He had just offered Holy Mass! Might he not often find that same expression in the face of other priests?

The Pope and all priests are other Christs, but they are never more intensely than after offering Holy Mass. Perhaps then, more often than not, are the words of Norman Rockwell realized: "What you are inside, shows in your face." Can you think of a greater invitation than one to receive the power to offer Holy Mass?

Reason for Concern
Between 1949 and 1959 the number of teaching Sisters in the United States increased from 80,000 to 96,000 — a total of 16,000. A recent study published in one of our national Catholic magazines revealed, "For our elementary and secondary schools alone we will need approximately 50,000 additional teaching Sisters by 1970." That is more than three times as many as the number of young ladies who entered our convents within the past 10 years!

Invitations, called "vocations," have been sent by God to the 50,000 girls whom He wants to enter the convent between now and 1970. But the world and the devil are working hard to ruin these vocations. Are you and I, through our prayers, working just as hard to save them?

Blessed Mary Magdalene of Orsini:
Whenever she saw a nun laugh, she would say, "Laugh and rejoice, dear Sister, for you have reason to be happy, being far away from the dangers of the world."

Hospitals Seek to End Blue Cross Controversy

PHILADELPHIA (NC) — Administrators of eight Catholic hospitals have said they will continue efforts to end their dispute with the Blue Cross, even though their hospitals have stopped participating in the insurance program.

At the same time, Sister-administrators asserted that the "benevolent tyranny" of the Blue Cross which hovers over our hospitals should be of grave concern to every thoughtful citizen.

The Catholic institutions are members of a group of 45 hospitals which have refused to sign new contracts with the local Blue Cross, which hovers over our reimbursement proposals. The 37 non-Catholic institutions have not withdrawn, however, as did the Catholic hospitals on Mar. 31.

The Catholic hospitals want the Better Public Relations Urged

WASHINGTON (NC) — The Catholic Church in the U. S. has been urged to undertake more vigorous and professional public relations to present a true image of itself to non-Catholic Americans.

This recommendation is made by representatives in public relations, advertising, newspapers, magazines, radio and television. Their opinions are presented in "The Church and Communications Arts," published Apr. 4.

The material in the book summarizes lectures and discussions given at the first U. S. Catholic national-level seminar on communications, held in New York in August, 1959. Rev. John E. Kelly, director of the Bureau of Information, National Catholic Welfare Conference, was a member of the seminar's faculty roster.

Catholic Press in Germany Has Rebuilt After War

BONN, Germany (NC) — One of every 10 periodicals read in Germany today is a Catholic publication.

While less than 5% of the country's approximately 6,000 periodicals are Catholic, Catholic newspapers and magazines have a larger average circulation than others and account for almost 10% of the 120 million total circulation of all German periodicals.

Although the nation's 258 Catholic periodicals have a combined circulation of 11,600,000 the Catholic press situation is less favorable than it was 25 years ago when the Nazis came to power.

At present there are only nine small Catholic dailies, of strictly local importance, with a combined circulation of only 160,000. In 1933 when Adolf Hitler took over there were 400 dailies under Catholic auspices. They accounted for an eighth of Germany's total daily newspaper circulation.

Today German Catholic periodicals reach 42% of the nation's Catholics, who make up 45% of the population. In the U.S. 580 Catholic periodicals reach 61% of American Catholics.

These figures apply only to Western Germany. In communist-dominated Eastern Germany the position of the Catholic press is far less favorable.

Two million Catholics there are served by only two Catholic periodicals whose circulation is limited by the government's refusal to allocate sufficient newsprint.

Neither periodical is allowed to comment on political or other current problems.

French Hierarchy Critical Of French Movie Trend

PARIS (NC) — The Assembly of French Cardinals and Archbishops has expressed "deep anxiety" over the growing immorality of French movies.

In a statement issued after their Spring meeting here, the Cardinals and Archbishops said the immorality extends to the theme of some movies and the treatment of others.

HOWEVER, they said, an even more serious danger is that "certain film writers seem to show the clear desire to free man from all morality, even natural morality."

"The influence of these films permeates the general atmosphere of society and thus guides the thinking and actions of a large number of our contemporaries in France and abroad. As a result, the spiritual behavior of our country and even the modern world is under direct attack," they said.

They declared they could no longer keep silent about so grave a problem because silence might be interpreted as a sign of weakness or guilty indifference to serious danger. They continued:

"We know that the movies, the popular art form above all others, absorb a man's whole attention and exercises a veritable fascination and total influence over the viewer if he abandons himself to the magic spectacle without retaining his critical faculty. This is an even more serious danger in view of the fact that young people are the screen's most faithful customers."

IT WOULD BE useless to hope to raise the country's moral level, the statement said, "if we continue to tolerate the triumph on the screen of the mockery of family virtues and human values, of the excessive desire for money, of the complacent display of all sensual excesses and of the disrespect for all authority."

Therefore, they declared, "we are addressing a vigorous appeal to the consciences of all who bear some responsibility in this sphere, particularly to public authorities who have the right and the duty to intervene to safeguard the common good. We also are appealing to professional men, especially to Christians who have influence in the motion picture industry, and finally to journalists who, by virtue of their calling, are the educators of the public."

"Experience shows that a wholesome film may be a work of art and also earn a profit. Cannot what is earned for evil be earned more often for good?"

"We appeal to all honest people of all beliefs to demand respect for their own dignity and the moral future of their children. We want to remind our own faithful firmly that they have a duty in conscience not to attend the presentation of a film which is disapproved of by the Catholic organizations regularly established for the study and judgment of new films."

IN GRATITUDE: In his Vatican study, Pope John XXIII blesses two bricks taken from the Holy Door of St. Peter's Basilica, for inclusion in St. Peter's Church, Jersey City. At left is Giuseppe Cardinal Pizzardo, at whose request the Holy Father administered the blessing.

Holy Door Bricks Going to St. Peter's

JERSEY CITY — An act of charity that began shortly after World War II, when a Jesuit Brother at St. Peter's parish in Jersey City began sending used clothes and household articles to a war-stricken diocese in Italy, was reciprocated last week.

At the request of Cardinal Pizzardo, whose Diocese of Albano was recipient of clothes, bedding and other cast-offs collected by the late brother Maurice Burke, S.J., the Holy Father last week blessed two bricks taken from the Holy Door of Peter's Basilica, Rome, in 1950 at the opening of the Holy Year. The bricks are now en route to Jersey City, where they will be incorporated in the new church which is now being constructed in the downtown parish.

The 106-year-old St. Peter's Church was razed last year when structural weaknesses were discovered. It had been considered the mother church of Hudson County, pre-dating all other Catholic churches there.

Cardinal Pizzardo is secretary of the Supreme Congregation of the Holy Office. In a letter to Very Rev. John B. Morris, S.J., rector of St. Peter's, Cardinal Pizzardo explained that he had freely requested Pope John to confer his blessing, as "a special favor" for St. Peter's Church.

Friends and neighbors have also joined in honoring his memory. As soon as all contributions have been received a suitable memorial will be established in St. Peter Hall, the new Jesuit faculty residence.

Nocturnal Adoration Center To Be Established in Linden

LINDEN — The St. John's Center for Nocturnal Adoration will be canonically established in ceremonies at 8 p.m., Apr. 22 in St. John's Church here.

Archbishop Boland will preside at a Holy Hour attended by representatives of 42 Holy Name societies of Union County. They will be addressed by Rev. Hector C. Lemieux, S.S.S., national director of the Nocturnal Adoration Society. The Union County center is being established under the auspices of the Union County Federation of Holy Name Societies and has already received its charter.

THE NEW CENTER will be manned by the men of 41 Union County parish societies and the Elizabeth Police, Firemen and Postal Employees Holy Name Society. They will start their first watch hours on May 6, and continue on each First Friday thereafter with vigils lasting from 9 announced that 487 have signed up for the monthly Nocturnal Adoration vigils. Msgr. Mulvaney will formally enroll them during the various watch hours on the First Friday in May.

In previous years, the men of Union County have been serving watch hours at St. Mary's, Elizabeth, on First Fridays from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. This activity, however, was a voluntary one and was not formally chartered by the Nocturnal Adoration Society.

Fr. Shanahan Given Army Service Medal

JERSEY CITY — Very Rev. James J. Shanahan, president of St. Peter College, received the Outstanding Civilian Service Medal as a surprise feature at the annual formal review of the school's ROTC Brigade, held Apr. 7 at the Jersey City Armory.

The award was presented to Father Shanahan by Major General Raymond W. Curtis, commanding general of the Second Army Corps, for "dynamic leadership in organizing, guiding and supporting" the ROTC unit at St. Peter's. It was the first time the medal had been presented in the First Army area.

Father Shanahan, who served as a chaplain with the Army Air Corps, 1943-46, saw the ROTC established at St. Peter's during the first year of his term as president in 1951. Since then, 528 St. Peter's graduates have been commissioned second lieutenants in the Army Reserve Corps.

At present, the St. Peter's ROTC has 800 cadets, being trained by a staff of five officers and eight non-commissioned officers with Lt. Col. Robert Kunta as commanding officer.
